HENDERSON QUILTS! DOBE MAY BE COACH!

U. S. TO PRESS SETTLEMENT OF DEBTS

Dawes Plan Division Out of Way; Officials to Seek Cash From France

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—With complete accord reached at Paris concerning the allocation of Germany's payments under the Dawes plan and the international atmosphere consequently more clarified than it has been at any time since the armistice, administration officials are now prepared to press for an early settlement of the $7,000,000,000 worth of war debts that still remain unfunded on America's books.

An early renewal of negotiations to this end can be expected, it was stated in official circles here today, with the United States exerting pressure on France for some serious talk about how she is to discharge her debt of $4,000,000,000.

Last Barrier Down
The settlement of the reparations problem, in the opinion of administration officials, removes the last barrier to debt settlement negotiations with all European debtors. Heretofore, France and the smaller debtors have offered the argument that they could not talk settlement with Washington until they could ascertain just how much they were to get from Germany. The Dawes plan agreement settled that, and now the excuse becomes no longer tenable.

Commenting today upon the Paris agreement, administration officials pointed out that the subject of war debts is the last of the great international problems of a controversial nature left by the war. It is made plain that this government at last considers the time ripe for tackling this problem in earnest.

See Hopeful Sign
Discussions at Paris between Clement and Winston Churchill, the British chancellor, over the subject of France's debt to Great Britain, are regarded here as a hopeful sign that France soon will submit to both her creditors a definite statement of her intention to pay and the measures by which she intends to do so. The French debt to Britain is approximately $2,700,000,000, and to the United States, with interest, $4,127,000,000.

GOLF CLASSIC IS DISAPPOINTING

Treacherous Greens Prevent Scores Lower Than 80 By One Contestant

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—Treacherous greens exacted a heartbreaking toll of lost strokes in the first round of the annual California open golf championship over the two courses of the San Francisco Olympic club today.

Up to noon not a player had broken an 80 and only one, Olin Dutra of Fresno, had made that score. Frank Minch of San Francisco turned in an 81, and Al Espinosa, formerly of California, now of Chicago, equalled this mark.

Two Los Angeles players, Ed Gayer of Hillcrest, and Chick Fraser of Midwick, turned in 82s. Harry Pressler of Whittier, Joe Mosely, W. J. Murray and Walter Devereaux of San Francisco all had 86s.

Gwyn Bowen of Santa Barbara was satisfied with an 87 while Al Albredo of San Francisco was disappointed with a 91.

Cabinet to Abolish Arsenal at Shanghai

PEKING, Jan. 15.—The cabinet today decided to abolish the Shanghai arsenal, forbid the stationing of troops there and also do away with the much quarreled over post of defense commissioner of that city. It was learned here in official quarters. This action, according to observers, is calculated to stop the perpetual fighting that has been long urged by the Shanghai Chinese authorities and diplomatic body.

Proposed Bill Puts Teeth In Volstead Law

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The first legislative step to put some more teeth in the Volstead act was taken by the House judiciary committee today when it approved the Stalker bill, providing that both fine and imprisonment must be imposed by judges on dry law violators. The bill is backed in Congress by the anti-saloon league. One clause specifically provides that the penalties shall not apply to persons manufacturing "non-intoxicating cider and fruit juices," for home consumption.

RICHARDSON ASKS SUPERVISORS' AID

Governor Tells Association To Submit Outline Of Its Policies

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15.—Prefacing his request with the declaration that "as supervisors you are in close touch with the people and in position to know what they want," Governor Richardson today appeared before the annual convention of the County Supervisors' association of California and urged that the organization submit a report to the Legislature outlining its policy with regard to the continuance of highway work in the state.

"I do not want to hold a 'big stick' over the people," the governor asserted, "but as supervisors you have the opportunity to sound public sentiment and make known your findings to the Legislature."

"I wish you would submit a report to the Legislature setting forth whether you believe it wise to continue road work during the coming two years and whether funds should be raised by a bond issue or taxation if the work is to go on. I will attempt to carry out the will of the people and believe you should know what they want."

President's Secretary Slemp Resigns Mar. 4

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—C. Bascom Slemp, secretary to President Coolidge, will retire from the post on March 4 next and will be succeeded by Representative Everett Sanders, Republican, Indiana, whose term expires with the present Congress, it was learned here today.

The shift in secretaries marks still another change that will take place in the official family of the president, dating from March 4. Slemp has been secretary to President Coolidge since he entered the White House. Sanders, his successor, is 43 years old, a native of Terre Haute, Ind., and has been in Congress for eight terms from his home district. He was not a candidate for re-election last November.

Oesterrich Charge To Be Dismissed

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—Murder charges filed against Mrs. Walburga Oesterrich almost three years ago, following the slaying here of her wealthy husband, were to be dismissed today, according to district attorney's office. Dismissal was to be asked on the ground of insufficient evidence. Several times trial of the case has been postponed owing to illness of Mrs. Oesterrich.

Mount Rainier to Keep Name, Lawmakers Say

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Mount Rainier, Washington state, is not to have its name changed to Mount Tacoma. The House public lands committee, by a vote of nine to four, today defeated a resolution providing for this change in name.

Tammany Hall Leader Is Dead of Pneumonia

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Thomas Foley, Tammany leader and political sponsor for Governor Al Smith of New York, died early today at the Rockefeller institute.

GIRL, 16, TELLS OF SLAYING MOTHER

Scolded for 'Going Out With Men' Daughter Confesses She Shot Parent

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—Dorothy Ellingson, 16, arrested after a two-day search early today, confessed killing her mother, Mrs. Annie Ellingson. The girl said she shot her mother because she had remonstrated with her against going out with men. Mrs. Ellingson was shot through the back as she stooped to tie her shoes in the bedroom of their home in Third avenue Tuesday.

Dorothy was arrested early today in a rooming house at 1047 Franklin street. At first she denied having shot her mother and told a detailed story in which she accused a "hophead" of having fired the shot.

Makes Confession
Under severe grilling by Police Lieutenant Alex McDaniell, the girl finally gave way and made a full confession.

"Yes, I did it," she told McDaniell. "Mother and I had a quarrel Monday night when I came in. She told me that I must quit going out with men and get a job. I told her I wouldn't."

"Tuesday morning, when we woke up, we renewed the quarrel. I finally got up and got my brother's revolver and went into the bedroom and shot her."

Defiant when arrested and alternately tearful and giggling as she was questioned, the girl, who had danced her way down the jazz trail to a murder charge, seemed today to lack comprehension of the nature of her deed, officers said.

Pass Over Robison In Promotions for Navy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—In the face of senatorial threats to block the promotion, President Coolidge has "passed over" Captain J. K. Robison, the ranking officer of his grade in the navy, and promoted a number of other captains over his head, it was learned here today.

Captain Robison's name figures prominently in the Senate's investigation of the Doheny oil leases, it being brought out, among other things, that he, as chief of the bureau of engineering at the department, approved the Pearl Harbor contract negotiated by Doheny with Albert B. Fall.

Aged Bishop In Court Convicted In Heresy

CLEVELAND, Jan. 15.—"This faith of mine is no word puzzle—I believe in God," Bishop William Montgomery Brown, who has carried his conviction of heresy before the court of review, said today in an address to the judges. His aged body swayed with emotion, his head and voice were highly raised.

"This faith of mine is beyond words, for words, at their best are but symbols of the truth. You cannot imprison God with a literal creed," he said in a shaking voice.

Former Braves Player Married In Salt Lake

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 15.—Contracts are a part of the lot of baseball players. Paul Strand, formerly with the Boston Nationals and the Athletics, and recently of Toledo American association club, added another to his long list when he took unto himself a bride—Miss Esther Carbis of Salt Lake City. The couple left immediately to spend their honeymoon in the Pacific Northwest. Strand's home is in South Prairie, Washington, near Tacoma.

Ask Congress to Name Baseball Commission

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Interest in baseball circles today centered in the circulation of a petition, endorsed by Ban Johnson, asking Congress to pass a measure placing professional baseball under government control. According to the plan this could be done by the appointment of a federal commission by the president.

Declare Girl Slayer Ruled By Self Love

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—"Self-love is lower than all other love. As children destroy those objects which interfere with their pleasure, Dorothy Ellingson evidently killed her mother because the parent was interfering with the girl's idea of pleasure."

These comments were made today by Dr. Gregory Stragnell, leader in the field of psychology and editor of the Medical Journal Record, when interviewed concerning Dorothy Ellingson, the 16-year-old San Francisco girl who confessed, police say, to killing her mother because she refused to allow the girl to go out with men.

COMMITTEE IN TALK OVER SITES

Representatives of Regents Consider 18 Possible Locations for U. of C.

The committee chosen by the regents of the University of California to examine and report on the various sites offered in Southern California for a branch of the state university is holding an all-day session in Los Angeles today for the purpose of discussing the merits of the various propositions.

Up to noon, the committee, which is meeting in the directors' room of the Security Trust & Savings bank, had considered ten of the eighteen sites submitted. It was announced that the other eleven would be considered this afternoon.

The meeting is presided over by Henry W. O'Melveny, chairman of the committee. Following today's meeting, the committee will hold another session, to agree upon a site for recommendation to the university regents.

Views
It is said that the site offered by Burbank and endorsed by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce is looked upon with favor by the committee.

A reported statement of Governor F. W. Richardson to the effect that he will not accept the recommendation of any committee on a proposed site for the relocating of the southern branch of the state university, but will investigate for himself, has met with the great approval of those in this vicinity who have heard of it, for they feel that, if the governor and other regents visit Burbank, they will be most favorably impressed by the site which the city is offering. Governor Richardson's reported statement reads:

"I am not going to be led by any committee's reports or recommendations as to the proposed sites. The regents should each exercise his or her own best judgment for the good of the people. The regents are responsible to the people of the state. I shall look over the sites myself. It would be well for the regents to do the same."

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 15.—Carl Peterson, state banking commissioner, handed his written resignation to Governor Ben S. Paulin at 1:30 o'clock today. Despite the cold and the high wind, spectators lined the shore throughout the night.

LUTHER HEADS NEW GERMAN CABINET

Bitter Political Strife Seen Ended as Stresemann Claims Victory

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service.
BERLIN, Jan. 15.—Dr. Hans Luther, former finance minister, was formally charged today to form a new cabinet, ending the period of uncertainty and bitter political strife which has endured since the election. President Ebert formally appointed Dr. Luther as chancellor this afternoon.

Dr. Luther, renowned as one of Germany's greatest financial experts, as well as a clever negotiator, has organized and almost completed the new ministry behind the scenes. It will be a conservative bourgeois cabinet. His selections thus far stand: Chancellor, Dr. Hans Luther; foreign minister, Dr. Gustav Stresemann; finance minister, Dr. Saenisch; minister of the interior, Herr Schiele; minister of agriculture, Count Kanitz; minister of commerce, Herr Neuhaus; minister of labor, Dr. Heinrich Brauns; minister of justice, Herr Schollen; minister of posts, Herr Stengel; minister of the army, Dr. Otto Gessler.

Members' History
Stresemann, Kanitz, Brauns and Gessler held the same posts on the Marx cabinet. Schiele is head of the Nationalist party. Saenisch and Neuhaus held the same positions in the Prussian cabinet to which Luther has assigned them, and Stengel was minister of posts in the Cuno cabinet. Schollen, a Centrist, comes to the cabinet as an expert.

The new lineup was heralded here as a victory for Foreign Minister Stresemann, but is not considered a danger to the republic, as the monarchist pretensions of the Stresemann party are not taken seriously, as against the popular opinion represented in the Reichstag.

Cabinet's Policy
The new cabinet will be formed of "moderates" of the right wing parties, including the German Nationals, the German People's, the Centrists, the Bavarian People's, in addition to Professionals, who are filling the remaining vacancies. Excluding the Social Democrats, the cabinet will be conservative, representing the economic elements of Germany as violently opposed to Marxian experiments.

According to the repeated assertions of Dr. Luther, the new cabinet will hold to "continuity of foreign policy," meaning it will back loyally German attempts to fulfill the Dawes obligations. This intention is reflected also in the continuation of Stresemann as foreign minister.

SEEK SLAYERS IN BOMBAY MYSTERY

'Beautiful Queen' Disfigured And Merchant Killed In Love Tangle

BOMBAY, Jan. 15.—A reward of 10,000 rupees was offered by the police today for information which would lead to the arrest of the slayers of Abdir Kadir Bawla, the wealthy white merchant who was killed while with Mumtaz Begum, a beautiful Nautch girl. Another suspect was arrested today, making two Pathan tribesmen now in custody. The condition of the Nautch girl, whose face was slashed by the assailants with the purpose of destroying her beauty, still was critical.

Luxury of Queen

Authorities revealed that Mumtaz was the beneficiary of an income from the district of Indore, where she had been a consort of the Maharajah. In the annual budget of Indore $9000 yearly was set aside for her, it was said.

Mumtaz Begum means "beautiful queen" and the authorities said that she was maintained with all the luxury of a queen. The Maharajah, they said, gave her innumerable costly gifts.

PUBLIC UTILITIES TAX IS SUGGESTED

Progressives at Sacramento Describe Bill as Attack To Embarrass Cities

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15.—A constitutional amendment described by members of the progressive group in the legislature as an attack upon the principle of public ownership indirectly, and a direct effort to hinder and embarrass municipal and other public undertakings, was introduced in the Assembly today by Assemblyman S. C. Hartnaff of Fullerton.

The amendment proposes to tax the gross earnings of the publicly-owned utilities on the same basis as privately owned utilities are now taxed by the state.

Measure's Intention
If approved, the measure would place a state tax on the earnings of the San Francisco municipal railway, the power developed and sold by the Hetch Hetchy project, the Los Angeles publicly owned power system and other similar enterprises.

A companion measure to Hartnaff's constitutional amendment was introduced in the Senate by Senator F. J. Powers of Eagleville.

TROJAN CHIEF RECEIVES PAY TO TEAR UP CONTRACT

Small Chance to Secure Knute Rockne's Services For U. S. C. Squad

BULLETIN
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 15.—Officials at the University of Notre Dame, in response to persistent rumors that Knute Rockne, athletic director at the Irish institution, would resign today, announced that the famous mentor will remain here at least for the nine years remaining of his contract.

BULLETIN
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—Elmer C. Henderson, football coach of the University of Southern California, resigned late today and his resignation was immediately accepted by the Trojan athletic board. Henderson, it was announced, will be fully paid at his own figure for the two years his contract had to run.

With chances of obtaining Knute Rockne of Notre Dame as Henderson's successor, fading, due, it was said, to "undue publicity," the Los Angeles university sought Gilmour Dobie, formerly of the University of Washington, Seattle, and now coach at Cornell.

Henderson, who came here five years ago from Broadway High school, Seattle, has not announced his plans. He was said to be considering offers from Nebraska and Columbia.

Henderson's retirement was practically forced upon him and it was asserted by Trojan alumni his resignation was the first step toward patching up the break in athletic relations between California, Stanford and the Los Angeles university.

Have Fashion Show
The hit of the program will be the fashion show put on by the heavyweight football team. This act must be seen to be appreciated, but it promises to be a riot in itself.

The juniors and freshmen are putting on burlesques. The freshmen's act is called "The Radio," and it is hoped that "Uncle John"
and "Uncle Remus" of KJH will furnish added attraction to the skit.

The revival of the most famed of all light operas, "Florodora," will take place in the staging of the famous sextet, "Will You Tell Me, Pretty Maiden?"

Plenty of Talent
Six sophomore girls are staging a clever jazz dance called "Blondes or Brunettes." Dorothy
Allen and Nadene Bowers take the leads. The costumes are in lavender and yellow and are most effective.

Not only are there these headliners, but there will be seven curtain acts; Jack Ward and Jerry Andrews are putting on an old-time slapstick stunt; Marcia Cleveland, Nancy Grant, and Gertrude
Muske, are planning dances; Ella
Christenson, "Old Fashioned
Songs by an By An Old Fashioned
Girl"; and a duet by the Eubanks.
The last number will be by the Senior Jazz orchestra which is as peppy as ever.

ATWATER BODY PLANS MEETING

Paul E. Lipscomb Re-elected Secretary
Of Improvement Association, Will Hold Session Monday Night

Executive officers of the Atwater Community Improvement association met last night and re-elected Paul E. Lipscomb, founder of the association and active worker, to the office of secretary-treasurer. Mr. Lipscomb replaces J. E. Noble, who has been unable to care for the duties of the office, due to the press of other business.

Mr. Lipscomb organized the Atwater improvement body two years ago, when the tract was in its infancy. Up until three months ago he held the office of secretary-treasurer, resigning at that time to give more attention to his private affairs. He consented to serve once more after Mr. Noble was forced by other work to relinquish the office. Mr. Lipscomb regains the secretarial duties only. He has always remained as treasurer of the association.

A. Larson, director of the association was officially designated chairman of publicity at the meeting last night. Mr. Larson is connected in business in the same office with Mr. Lipscomb, so that the two officers will be able to coordinate their work in the future. Plans for the regular meeting of the association Monday night were discussed at the executive session.

Seek Lower Carfares

A petition seeking lower street car fares between Atwater and downtown Los Angeles is now in circulation and will contain, when fully signed, the names of 2,500 residents of the district. The petition will be forwarded to the railroad commission as a follow-up on the protest against high fares which was presented to the commission several weeks ago. Possibility of an investigation of the entire Glendale-Los Angeles street car rate schedule by the railroad board looms with not only Atwater, but the city of Glendale, now seeking a readjustment of fares.

Through their transportation committee, headed by W. T. Jefferson, San Fernando road real estate broker, the Glendale Chamber of Commerce will shortly make a demand for lower fares to Los Angeles and the improvement of Glendale motor bus service. Mr.
Jefferson and his committee are at work now preparing information to lay before the railroad commission.

After Branch Library

The library committee of the Atwater Improvement association will hold a conference with members of the Los Angeles library board sometime before the meeting of the association Monday night. Definite word as to the extent to which the library board will go in establishing a branch at Atwater will be sought by this committee, headed by James Ord.

A report will then be rendered at the meeting Monday.

Plan Musical Program

A musical program, full details of which will be announced later, is being planned for the meeting.
Alfred J. Barnes, member of the Los Angeles Planning commission, will address the meeting on aims and purposes of the joint meeting of improvement associations and Chambers of Commerce with members of the board of supervisors and the City Council, next Wednesday night at the Hollywood Athletic club. Bridges across the Los Angeles river in the Ivanhoe vicinity will be discussed at the meeting.

Members of the executive board who attended the meeting last night were President Arthur M.
Gilman, C. E. Michel, J. J. Wray,
F. Gooch, A. Larson, James Ord,
H. R. MacNair and P. E. Lipscomb.

Rev. M. Grant Nelson, pastor of the Atwater Park Baptist church, will commence a series of six sermons on the Jewish tabernacle morning service at the Atwater church next Sunday. The sermons to be given each Sunday morning until the series is completed, will be illustrated by Rev. Nelson.

Topics as announced by the pastor will be: January 18, "The Jewish Tabernacle Service and Its Significance"; January 25, "The Brazen Altar of Sacrifice"; February 1, "The Golden Altar of Incense"; February 8, "The Ministry of the Priests in the Holy Place"; February 15, "The High Priest and His Ministry"; February 22, "The Fire Upon the Brazen Altar."

night service Sunday on "Bearing the Cross for Jesus." Miss Naomi Fletcher, secretary of the Americanization work of the Northern Baptist convention will address members of the Women's Missionary union at the church next
Thursday, January 22, at 2 o'clock.
The women are contemplating Americanization work among Mexican children of the district and will learn methods of handling this important matter from the general secretary for the work over the entire northern part of the United States.

ENTER, THE BOSS

Glendale has always been up with the times where our municipal government is concerned. While we were still very small we adopted the city manager form of government, at a time when few other cities had taken such a step. This plan has worked out splendidly through the intervening years and is still satisfactory, though the duties and responsibilities of that official have grown amazingly. When we had grown beyond the needs of a city of the sixth class we were not long in adopting a charter that placed us in the city managerial class. In all things our municipal government has kept pace with the growth of the city.

It would be a real calamity now if partisan politics should be injected into our municipal affairs, as has been suggested. The party system in city government is out of date and one that many cities have done away with long ago. Others, still controlled by the party system, would dispense with it, if they could, but the party machines are so strong and so firmly entrenched as to make it impossible to rout them.

This is the great drawback to the participation of political parties in municipal affairs. The machine and the boss are the natural outgrowth of the system, a situation that is not only unwholesome but blocks progress in the municipality.

There is no reason for injecting partisan politics in city government, anyway. What planks in the platforms adopted by the parties in national conventions last summer are applicable to Glendale and her problems? Why should Republicans and Democrats, as such, take part in municipal affairs?

Glendale wants to keep on advancing in every particular. Injecting partisan politics into the city government will certainly not be conducive to that end.

TEACHING THE YOUNG IDEA HOW TO SHOOT

Opposing a bill introduced in Congress to prohibit revolvers being sent through the mails, Representative Blanton of Texas said he hoped every American boy would learn to "hit a dime from the hip at twenty paces." This leads to the thought that it might be a good idea to introduce shooting in the schools, and when the teacher oversteps her authority and orders Johnny to stay after school he can "shoot from the hip" and so teach her not to get funny with him.

Regarding the mail order revolver, the Duluth News-Tribune says: "Under our present laws, any flapper who thinks her 'sweetie' is growing weary of her may send $6.39 to a mail order house, get a nice shiny revolver and bump the young gentleman off. Then she pleads the 'unwritten law,' or something similar. If a 16-year-old boy thinks he can make money faster as a bandit, he can send the $6.39 and plug a filling station guardian in the stomach the first dark night."

"If a gang of young hoodlums thinks there is money to be made in the whiskey-running business, they can send $6.39 apiece and equip themselves with serviceable revolvers, plug an automobile owner some dark night and steal his car. The revolvers will come in handy later for shooting down revenue officers and policemen. And they can plead the irresponsibility of youth. If grandmother grows weary of grandfather, after forty years of married life, and wants a chance to 'express herself,' she can forward $6.39 and 'get' grandpa while he sleeps. Her plea must be emotional insanity, or something like that."

THE BILLBOARD MENACE

In Iowa the erection of billboards along the public highway is now prohibited. The law is based on the claim that such billboards endanger the public safety by obscuring or diverting attention from the official signs put up by the highway commission to warn drivers of turns, sharp curves, railroad crossings and the like. The National Association of Real Estate Boards in session at Chicago formally gave their approval to this law.

In Minnesota there is a similar law in effect, providing for a sixty-foot right of way free from all advertising signs for the seven thousand miles of the state road system. Half a million billboards have been removed under the operation of this law.

The billboard advertisement answers a purpose which no other form of advertising can fill, and yet these advertising signs along the highways have multiplied so rapidly as to become a menace in more ways than one. The action of the Standard Oil Co. of California in eliminating all billboard advertising along the highways is being followed by other organizations. Billboard advertising has been profitable for all concerned, but it has grown to a point where it militates against itself.

OUR IMPERIALISM

The London Chronicle laments that the United States is "imperialistic," that the power of Rome and Carthage was small compared to that of the United States, and attention is called to the fact that our imperialism is not militaristic, but economic. The Chronicle says we exercise our power by buying the art treasures of Europe, its valuable libraries and books and we lure to this country the best actors, musicians and skilled workers by promise of higher pay than Europe can give them.

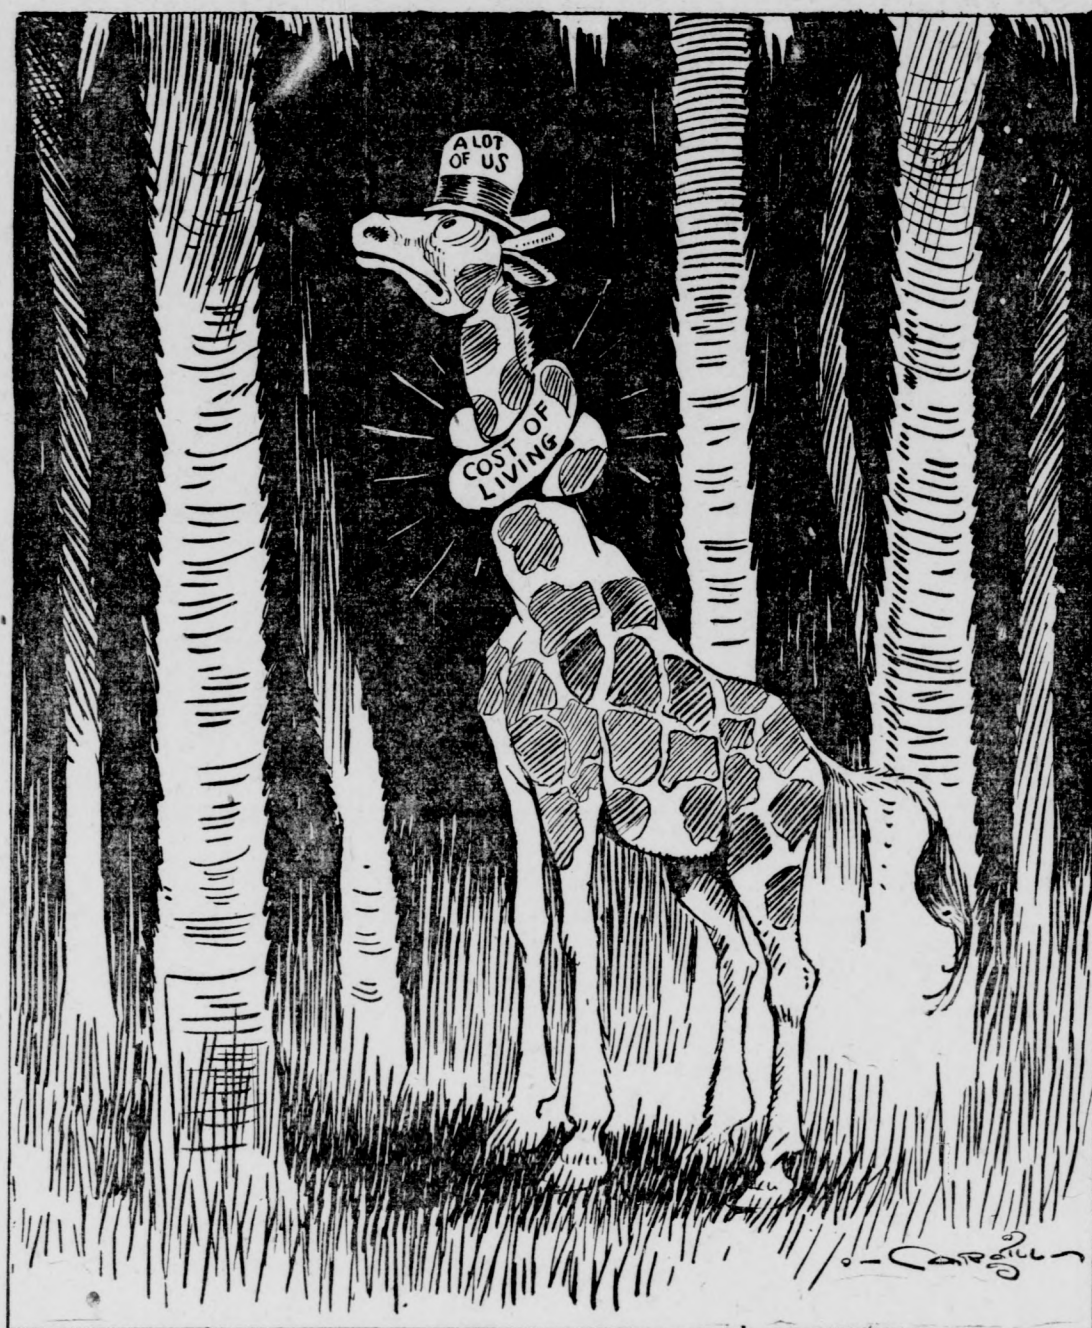

It would seem that to purchase the art treasures and the libraries of Europe would be more desirable for all concerned than to take or destroy them by war and conquest, as has been the custom in the old world since the days of Rome and Carthage. And it would seem also that our economic imperialism has been the only hope of Europe's re-establishing herself on a sound economic foundation.

SUBDUING GOD

Zinovieff, chairman of the executive committee of the Third Internationale, cautions his comrades of the Commune against too much haste in their fight against religion. "In due time," he says, "we shall pursue our attacks upon Almighty God and in an appropriate manner. We are confident we shall subdue him in his empyrean. We shall fight him wherever he hides himself, but we must go about such a question as anti-religious propaganda more carefully in the future." He counsels that God be abolished by education rather than by force.

The Russian Soviet government is due for a hard fall, and repudiation of the belief in a higher power that has always supported men and nations will only hasten her end.

THE TIE THAT BINDS!

The Pleasure of Going to Fires

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There is a distinct pleasure in attending fires. In fact, a fire has almost all the elements of a public amusement.

They are no good, they are purely destructive, and they are easily noisy. Nothing can be of much value as an amusement that is of any benefit to anybody. A little boy once was asked what he wanted for Christmas. His reply was, "Oh, anything, just so it isn't useful." His young mind discerned the difference between usefulness and amusement.

When the bells ring and the horses gallop, and somebody is losing a fortune, and everybody turns out to see the show, what can be more fun than to stand on the sidewalk and see the engines go by, or occupy a safe place of vantage and see the building burn?

It is exciting. It is dangerous, and it is not only of no use but it is distinctly a loss. There is no fire without destruction of property. Somebody has to pay the piper.

Perhaps down at the bottom of our hearts there is just a little pleasure that we all experience in seeing somebody else lose something. It is not a nice thing to say, about human nature, but it is, alas! too probable.

They tell a story about Nelson Morris. At one time a clerk came running into his office, and announced that there was a fire. Morris hastily put on his coat, crying out, "Where is it?" "Over at Swift's," was the reply. Hearing this, Morris took off his coat again, hung it up, and sat down, remarking, "It's too bad about them Swifts." We can hear the losses of other people with considerable philosophy, just as we can bear their pains.

Walter Pritchard Eaton, in his book, "The Actors' Heritage," quotes the leading man in Mile. Rachel's company touring the United States in 1855 as saying, "The pleasure of extinguishing fires ranks first among amusements in the United States."

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

Brevity is the soul of wisdom, too.

Ten words can be more potent than 10,000. Brevity is the reason why La Rochefoucauld, Frenchman, is one of the great writers of all times. A few less than 1000 maxims is the sum total of his literary labors; but these brief jabs and terse pearls into the soul of humanity make him an immortal.

These are some of his maxims: Those great and brilliant actions which dazzle our eyes, are represented by politicians as the effects of great genius, instead of which they are commonly the effects of caprice and often the passions. Thus the war between Augustus and Antony, which is attributed to the ambition they had of making themselves masters of the world, was, perhaps, nothing but a result of jealousy.

We have all of us sufficient fortitude to bear the misfortunes of others.

It requires greater virtue to support good, than bad fortune.

We have more power than will; and it is often by way of excuse to ourselves that we fancy things are impossible.

We promise according to our hopes, and perform according to our fears.

We have not strength enough to follow our reasons.

Truth does not do so much in the world as its appearances do evil.

Everyone complains of his memory, and no one complains of his judgment.

The head cannot long play the part of the heart.

Men are more often guilty of treachery from weakness of character than from any settled design to betray.

We often do good, in order that we may do evil with impunity. The only good copies are those which exhibit the defects of bad originals.

We are never so ridiculous from the qualities we have, as from those we affect to have.

The world more often rewards the appearance of merit than it does merit itself.

When our vices quit us we flatter ourselves with the belief that it is we who quit them.

Uranus in benefic aspect rules this day, according to astrology. Early in the morning Saturn is adverse.

Mental attributes should rule men and women today, which should bring them good luck.

It is primarily a time to plan big enterprises and to dare to contemplate big achievements, for resourcefulness is supposed to be encouraged by this sway.

The seers emphasize the fact that all the forces which appear inimical to human progress are really working toward higher developments.

Vice and crime are to flourish, but they will destroy themselves ultimately, occultists assure the world.

This should be a fairly fortunate wedding day making for congeniality and sympathy. They who marry under this sway are not likely to be divorced.

It is prophesied that industrial conditions are to undergo certain change for the better. A leader of the workers will end his career within this year.

The sudden demise of a statesman may be expected under the most dramatic circumstances.

Washington is subject to the best possible planetary government and a season of brilliant events is prognosticated.

New York City is subject to a direction of the stars that is not altogether beneficial to the health of its financiers who are to suffer from extraordinary strain of work.

All the signs appear to be marvelously good for the whole country, although in certain states disasters are indicated. Fires may be expected and they will be of unusual destructiveness.

By maintaining a satisfactory rating of efficiency, to be determined largely by a self-rating chart, and by completing approved courses equivalent to six university credits, the teachers of Leominster, Mass., may receive an increase of $50 beyond the maximum. A second increment of $50 may be granted two years after the first special increase by earning six additional credits and maintaining a satisfactory efficiency rating.

Prison Warden Denies 'Lifer' Witness Right

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Jan. 15.—Warden Frank J. Smith of San Quentin stood pat today on his stand taken in refusing to allow Herbert Wilson, serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for having slain his accomplice in a Los Angeles mail robbery, from leaving the prison on a habeas corpus petition and going to Los Angeles to testify in the case.

Smith based his attitude on an opinion rendered on a similar case several months ago by Attorney General U. S. Webb. At the attorney-general's office today it was stated that no communication from Warden Smith on the subject had reached that office.

Encouraged by the French colonial administration, there has been a marked increase in Algeria's tobacco production.

Today's Poem

LINES FROM 'MAUD'

Go not, happy day,
From the shining fields,
Go not, happy day,
Till the maiden yields.
Roses are the West,
Roses are her cheeks,
And a rose her mouth.
When the happy day
Falters from her lips,
Pass and blush the news
Over the blowing ships.
Over seas at rest,
Pass the happy news,
Blush it thro' the West;
Till the red man dances
By his red cedar tree,
And the red man's babe
Leaps, beyond the sea,
Blush from West to East,
Blush from East to West,
Till the West is East,
Blush it thro' the West.
Roses are the West,
Roses are her cheeks,
And a rose her mouth.
—Tennyson.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautiful, dark and lustrous. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking no small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and lustrous and you appear years younger.—Advertisement.

HUPMOBILE SALES REPORTED HEAVY

New Eight-Cylinder Car Is Proving Popular With Motoring Public

Nicely settled in his new location and with crowds daily calling to see the new Hupmobile 8, H. V. White, Glendale manager for H. V. Swanson, 228 South Brand boulevard, Hupmobile distributor in Glendale and Hollywood, says 1925 bids well to be a banner year in Hup sales. Already many orders have been booked by Mr. White and his salesforce and with a shipment on the way to Glendale, deliveries will soon be made.

The popularity of the car was demonstrated soon after its appearance in display rooms and the reception accorded the four models was enthusiastic. Hup engineers claim many new distinct advances in design and construction its acceleration and power, those who have been fortunate enough to ride in one of the machines declare, are astonishing. In commenting on the new car, Mr. White said:

"The extreme compactness which the makers of the Hup 8 were successful in securing in their new motor is immediately evident in the appearance of the car. The hood is no longer than the average 6 and the bodies of both the open and closed types are exceptionally well proportioned with low, graceful lines." Mr. White also said that the demand for the new eight already developed will take the ability of the new plant Hupmobile has built to produce it.

FIND COACH BODY FITS TWO MAKES

Hudson And Essex Cars Are Similar In Many Ways Dealer Reports

When a coach body is being made in the Hudson-Exsco factory it is not known whether it will be on a Hudson or an Essex chassis and just before it acquires its final form by stamping is learned for the first time what kind of a car it will be, according to Porter Kelley, of Kelley Motor Car Co., 816 South Brand boulevard, Glendale Hudson and Essex distributors.

Thus said Mr. Kelley tersely emphasize the fact that Hudson and Essex bodies are almost exactly alike and that 200 parts of the two motor cars are interchangeable. He pointed out that Hudson and Essex coaches are not, as in some cases, entirely different cars, one a high-priced one and the other a cheap one, but are closely allied in quality, one merely having added refinements and so forth.

"One of the interesting features that we thus disclose," said Mr. Kelley, "is the similarity in power plants. Many are learning for the first time an important truth, that the Essex 6 might be termed the 'super-six' just as the Hudson is, in that it has the same 'super' and patented power plant; one who lacks of vibration has pleased motorists and puzzled automotive engineers by its excellence ever since it was first invented."

CHEVROLET LEADS LOW PRICED CARS

Local Distributor Reports Heavy Demands for New Model In Glendale

"The new Chevrolet has proved one of the most popular low priced cars ever placed on the market," said James V. Hough, 241 South Orange street, who recently took over the C. L. Smith agency in Glendale. Mr. Hough was a Chevrolet dealer for a number of years in Los Angeles and has been active in automotive circles in Southern California for years.

According to Mr. Hough, the new Chevrolet has all the desirable features of many higher priced cars. The spring base has been lengthened which makes easier riding; a dry plate clutch has replaced the old cone clutch and the crankshaft is four pounds heavier, eliminating vibration and giving smoother engine performance. A one-piece windshield with automatic wiper and Fisher bodies complete one of the year's neatest cars.

JELLISON TAKES ON STAR AGENCY

New Local Distributor Says Sales of 1925 Model Unusually Heavy

Jellison Motor Co., 1004 South Brand boulevard, has taken over the Star distribution in Glendale territory and report the sale of many of the new 1925 models. A complete stock of parts is carried and another shipment of cars is expected within a few days.

The 1925 Star at the new low price has many improvements seen only on larger cars. The "million dollar motor" is said to be entirely lacking in vibration and four-wheel brakes give better control and eliminate skidding on wet pavements. Sport, touring and closed models can be had in a wide variety of combinations with disc wheels, balloon tires and accessories that go to make a completely equipped car.

TWO EDUCATORS IN BOND ISSUE TALKS

Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher Association, Hears Arguments In Favor of $2,400,000 Project

Reflecting the spirit of cooperation in which Glendale's two school systems have united forces for victory in the bond election, February 10, for $1,200,000 for development of the Glendale Union High school system, and $1,200,000 for the development of the Glendale elementary school system, Mrs. George U. Moyse, assistant principal of Glendale Union High school, and Richardson D. White, superintendent of Glendale schools, spoke yesterday afternoon on needs and development plans before the Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher associations at Harvard High school. The talks of the two educators are given below:

"I believe the bond proposition is a matter of outlook," declared Mrs. Moyse, whose vital interest in Glendale school systems, was voiced in her eloquent presentation of the high school phase of the bond election.

"A city can never be beyond its children. The progress of that city is in step with the provision made for the education of the children. If this town is to grow we must put over the school bonds. Newcomers to a city always ask what the educational facilities are."

Tells of Co-operation

Los Angeles' provision for educational development was cited by Mrs. Moyse, who spoke at length on what Glendale can provide by the passage of the bonds to be considered.

"The splendid co-operation existing between the two Glendale school systems is an inspiring background for the bond campaign," said the speaker.

In discussing the high school system she stated that there are now 1,364 pupils attending Broadway High school; 783 attending the ninth grade session at Harvard High school; part time students attending Harvard High school; and 1,200 men and women attending night school at Harvard High school.

Interesting Facts

She pointed out that Glendale Union High school with 2,147 students, stands with Long Beach and Pasadena high schools as one of the three largest high schools in the southland.

Interesting facts brought out during her talk showed that at Broadway High school this year there is 18 per cent increase in average daily attendance. She also stated that out of ten new pupils coming to enroll more than one-half have driven to California.

The $1,200,000 bonds for the high school system is to be used for the completion of the Broadway high school building, of gymnasium and shops; the purchase of three sites, one in the northwest in Sunland-Tujunga community, and one in La Crescenta-Montrose community.

Big Realty Values

During her talk Mrs. Moyse mentioned the recent consideration of the Harvard plant as a civic center, which she stated Glendale voters had rejected by a decisive majority. In this connection she said that in talking with a well known Glendale woman, property owner and prominent educator, this woman had said: "I did not vote for the civic center and I tell you why. For many years I taught in one of the city high schools and I saw the school board sell piece after piece of property, which if it had kept would today command prices that would greatly reduce the school taxes. I felt that with the growing value of the Harvard street site, Glendale's school system might just as well profit by the vast sum it is to bring some day."

"Visit the schools and learn conditions and realize the need of plans for expansion," said Superintendent White, in discussing the bond issue of $1,200,000 for Glendale elementary and intermediate schools, to be voted upon February 10.

Mr. White emphasized that the election will be really two elections in the same polls. Two ballots will be presented for the voter, one for $1,200,000 for the Glendale Union High school system and one for the Glendale elementary system.

Tells of Plans

"This election is the culmination of much study and consideration on the part of the official boards of the two systems," said Mr. White. "It was a year ago that the two boards met to discuss school needs. Hearty co-operation existed and decision was made for a thorough survey, which when completed gave rise to the hope that plans could be made for the day when Glendale would have one school system, operating on the 6.3.3 plan or for the pupils in six years in grammar school, two years in intermediate, one year in junior high school and three years in senior high school. Junior High Schools

"The intermediate schools we have now are to be converted into junior high schools. Glendale Intermediate on South Glendale avenue is admirably located and equipped to serve the south end of the city as such. As for Wilson Intermediate, conditions there show that while the location is good it is not advisable to purchase additional ground or to convert that building, which has a capacity for between 400 and 450 pupils, and now has over 700."

The $1,200,000 for the elementary school system would therefore provide funds for building an intermediate school on the site now owned on Glenwood road,

WAR!

A Series of Seven Articles on War: With a local-civic objective by "Mr. A. Studios Veteran."

Article Seven

During the war, great attention was paid to athletics and amusements. The general staff—head and heart of the victorious American army, knew that in universal athletic sports and universal contentment were two vital factors in efficiency. The former fitted men for physical strain, the latter for mental strain—if either factor was lacking the army would break. The importance of these factors sent thousands of the best among men and women into the field with the army; the Foleys, Schumann-Heinks, the service orders, Red Cross, Salvation army, the Y. M. C. A.'s fraternal orders such as Masons, Elks, K. of P., etc. etc.

The world knows too, for "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Cohesion and friendship combined with the spirit that has a mission, a goal to be reached, render an order or an association doubly effective.

Both the Legion and Auxiliary in common with all the other service societies know this and strive to make their work pleasant and the associations congenial. A satisfied mind as well as a well nourished body is conducive to efficiency.

Throughout the year, every effort is made to supply mental food and pleasure to all coming to the Legion and Auxiliary meetings—music, special addresses on timely subjects, dances, social parties, even a drum and bugle corps (a two-time prize winner at Pasadena), basket and baseball teams which have scored high in Legion leagues, Legion scout troops, events, hikes, camps, etc. Auxiliary sewing parties and socials—where numerous layettes and articles of clothing for the needy are pleasantly made, hundreds of Christmas and Thanksgiving baskets prepared, likewise musicals, supper dances, card parties, patriotic and educational programs, etc. are but a few of the many social activities which are combined with the general program for service and civics to make them more effective.

Probably the greatest needs of every service organization in Glendale are increase in membership and a place to meet which does not impose an overhead expense all out of proportion to their limited income—an overhead that leaves all too small a margin or fund to meet the numerous demands on their resources. Increased membership naturally would increase funds and power to work. Just now, it is the members they are after. With mental development, increase of activities, the survival of the fittest if you please, it will follow as surely as the laws of war that the service organizations must have a home to work in.

None of the service societies has a home except the Civil War Veterans. They have generously invited other societies to share it with them, but owing to its size and location it is not available. No other organization save the Legion has a sufficiently large membership to put over a building program. The Legion has made its efforts but, as "raw troops," illly prepared and equipped were moved down without a chance to give a good account of themselves.

To Mr. A. Studios Veteran "from a mind and heart favorably disposed toward all service societies and believing in their work, its value to the community and nation, there is an easy solution to this problem—one which while requiring lots of hard work (although the solution is easy) and some little sacrifice is well worth while, not only to the veterans and their invaluable Auxiliaries but to the citizens and city at large.

Build on the Legion lot a good, cheerful, comfortable but not ornate or extravagant Club House in which all service organizations that care to shall have a home and a voice in the management.

On the Legion's lot because the Legion is the youngest and naturally the largest service organization with the largest membership; but it should be built as a mutual, equal privilege, municipally promoted "patriotic hall" and every service man and organization in Glendale should work his or her head off if necessary to get it. They need it, Glendale needs it, hardly a city in Southern California that has not seen the light and acted. Verdugo Hills is the latest ambitious and successful Club House seeker. Yet Glendale, the Fastest Growing City in the Nation, 57,000 people, twelve service organizations—! Words fail here's to the success of the Legion and Auxiliary drive for members and here's to the hope that the days of the service organizations being homeless, like this series of articles on War are at The End.

FROM EAGLE ROCK
EAGLE ROCK, Jan. 15.—Approximately 100 more pupils were enrolled at the Eagle Rock school during 1924 than during 1923, according to C. W. Preston, principal. March, May and June were the only months of the school year that did not show gains, his records show.
On the first day of January, 1924, there were twenty-five members on the faculty; now there are thirty-five. Four additional classes have had to be reduced to half-day session, the library has been transformed into a sewing room, and even the front hall is used for sewing and millinery classes, Mr. Preston reports.
More improvements have been made in the agricultural line than any other. A lath house and a tool house have been erected on the garden plot, hundreds of shrubs have been planted, and plans under way for beautifying the parking on Fair Park avenue, reports Mr. Preston. Arrangements are under way for establishing a flower garden and park on the sixty-five foot strip just west of the school, from the lawn to Fair Park avenue.
The Merchants' Credit division of the Chamber of Commerce has gone on record against future participation in advertising schemes not first endorsed by the chamber. This action, merchants feel, will save them a great deal of money and tend to prevent misrepresentation.

The Wrath To Come

CHAPTER XXI
"Nothing to worry about," Blunn declared, pushing a box of cigars across the table. "The Conference have accepted the position so far as the steel supplied from Germany is concerned—faulty plates. Our people conceded—on paper—an enormous reduction in price. As regards the steel from America—well, Japan over-bought. That's all she can say. There seemed a possibility of shortage in steel and she decided to cover herself. We're only limited to building, not to making provisions for building."

"But what about the building, my friend?" Mr. Gurlenheim enquired anxiously. "Japan has gone a little beyond her specified limit, eh?"
"We are not fools, we and those others," Cornelius Blunn told him calmly. "What has been done in Japan is better for you not to know. But whatever has been done has been accomplished in such a manner that it would take a year to discover anything, and before then the time will have arrived."

Mr. Gurlenheim drew a very

Vapors Check a Cold Overnight

There are many ways to treat a cold but only one DIRECT way—with vapors that can be inhaled. Vapors penetrate immediately into every corner of the air passages and lungs, soothing and healing with every breath. Vicks is so remarkably successful in treating cold troubles because it acts like a vapor lamp in salve form.

When rubbed over throat and chest the body heat releases vapors of Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Turpentine. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster. This double, direct action often checks the worst cold overnight.

Views and Theatres News Notes From Studios

DOUBSON PLAYERS
"The Hole in the Wall" opened last night for its second week at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, with Mary Worth and Joseph McManus in the principal roles. The large attendance present makes the management confident that the capacity of this theatre will be taxed to the utmost all week, to accommodate the crowds who wanted to see this thrilling mystery melodrama last week and were disappointed. The curtain rises nightly at 8:15 o'clock.

Mary Worth, in the role of Jean Oliver, a woman unjustly confined in a state prison, dominates the play. In order to secure freedom and vindicate herself, she associates with a crook gang, inspiring them to mystic adventures through her knowledge of spiritualism.

"The Hole in the Wall" was written by Fred Jackson, from whose typewriter have clicked a score of big Broadway hits. The present offering had a successful New York run, where it was hailed with such enthusiasm as the faded eastern metropolis seldom accords any play.

GATEWAY THEATRE
Everybody has come to think of Tom Mix as an actor in western stories. Which is a natural enough conclusion, for he has been doing them rather consistently. His experience particularly fits him for cowboy roles. But most people would take with a grain of salt the statement that the William Fox star can play the part of a tragedian. There is sufficient proof that he can put across comedy with a rollicking air all his own. It remains then for him to express convincingly the deeper emotions on the screen, which he does in Zane Grey's "The Last of the Duanees."

This Fox production will be shown Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Gateway theatre. Of course the entire picture is not a tragedy, but there are moments when the wellspring of feeling are intensely touched. One of the strongest situations ensues when Tom finds a gun with one cartridge exploded. He had previously given it to the girl in the tale for her protection, while he had gone to seek a permanent shelter for her. At sight of the empty shell, he recalls her words, "I'll never let them take me alive."

Here is tragedy—stark, creeping, imminent—and Tom Mix portrays the scene with all the human reality of a man who has lost his dearest possession. Those who see "The Last of the Duanees" will be able to give testimony that the Fox star has added another laurel to his dramatic crown.

Does Tom find the girl alive? Well, it's all in the story and the finish is too good to spoil by revealing it now. But here's something to remember—the delectable Marian Nixon is the girl.

Grant drew a little sigh of relief as, in response to his invitation, the door of his room was opened and his long-expected visitor arrived. He rose at once to his feet. For a person whose enthusiasms were chiefly latent, his manner was almost exuberant.

"Colonel Hodson," he declared, "you're the one man in the States I've been longing to have a chat with ever since I landed. I'm afraid I'm responsible for bringing you back from your vacation."

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily looked from the window of his hollow stump bungalow across the meadow and saw Curly and Floppy Twistytail, the piggy boys. Curly was kicking Floppy's slap along the dried grass, from which the sun had melted the snow.

"Hi, there, Curly, don't kick your brother's cap like that," called the rabbit gentleman, opening the window.

"I got to kick it," grunted Curly. "He kicked mine a while ago, and now it's my turn to kick his."

"What a funny thing to do—kick each other's caps!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Why do you do such things?"

"Because we are playing football," answered Floppy. "I don't mind him kicking my cap, Uncle Wiggily. We're having lots of fun. We haven't a regular football, so we use our caps."

"You should do that!" spoke the rabbit gentleman. "Caps are not the thing to use as footballs."

"But what can we do to have some fun?" squealed Floppy. "Maybe Uncle Wiggily has a football he could let us take," suggested Curly.

The rabbit gentleman thought for a moment and then said: "Yes, I have. Come in."

"Oh, fine!" grunted Floppy. "Now we'll have jolly fun!" squealed his brother.

When the piggy boys scrambled into the hollow stump bungalow, Uncle Wiggily went out to the pantry. He remembered that he had seen on one of the shelves that morning what he thought was a football. And when he went to look the second time there it was gone.

"Though what a football is doing in Nurse Jane's pantry is more than I can guess," said the bunny as he picked up the dark thing, as large as the egg of two and a half ostriches. "But I suppose some of the animal boys left their football out near the house and Nurse Jane brought it in to keep it for them. Here, Curly and Floppy, take this football and kick that instead of your caps."

With joyful shouts and squeals of laughter the piggy boys ran out with what Uncle Wiggily gave them. Then the rabbit gentleman sat down to read his paper and twinkle his pink nose until his muskrat lady housekeeper should return from the movies.

And when Nurse Jane came home she went to the pantry and, after rattling about among the dishes for a while, she called to the bunny:

"Did you take the plum pudding I left here ready to warm up for your supper?"

"Plum pudding!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "What did the plum pudding look like, Janie, my dear?" and he spoke with a sinking heart.

"Why, it was dark colored and it was about as large as two and a half ostrich eggs," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I made the pudding yesterday and sewed it up in a cloth bag so it wouldn't boil away. Where is it?"

"Oh my! Good night!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I thought that was a football and I gave it to Floppy and Curly to kick. And just then two laughing, squealing piggy boys rushed up to the bungalow, crying:

"Say, Uncle Wiggily, that wasn't a football you gave us! It was a pudding. We found it out after we kicked it a little while, for a lot of plums and sugar came out of the bag. And we ate it all up—it was awful good!"

"Oh, dear!" sighed the bunny, and he looked at Nurse Jane anxiously like, but she only laughed and said not to mind as she could make another pudding, which she did.

But it was a long time before the little pigs got over talking about the funny football. And if the glass of milk doesn't put on airs and try to look like a pound of butter, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's boiled eggs.

AUTO DEALERS PREPARE FOR GREAT EXPOSITION!

SEEK REVENUE FOR HIGHWAY BUILDING

State's Budget Does Not Provide Fund For New Construction Work

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service
Special to The Evening News.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15.—Planning new highway construction in California is a problem put squarely up to the 1925 Legislature by Governor Richardson's budget which makes no recommendation on the subject. Not one dime from the general funds is allowed for pavements.

And with increase in the gasoline tax almost a forgotten topic, other ways and means are being sought to at least finance a bond issue, if not to provide immediate revenue.

The first suggestion comes from Van Bernard, Glenn county assessor, who will reintroduce his bill providing for a 5 cents per barrel tax on all crude oil which he estimates will produce $13,000,000 annually for roads.

Another suggestion comes from the oil interests that if the state should vote bonds the increased residue from gasoline tax, after reconstruction and maintenance charged against it, would leave sufficient for a sinking fund to retire the bonds in twenty years. The element of chance involved, however, causes political economists to give little consideration to the idea.

While others are busy with many legislative problems, Senator Charles H. V. Lewis of Los Angeles comes forth with the suggestion that legislation be enacted to create a state board of automobile repair men examiners, believing that those who prescribe for a car as important as those who prescribe human ills. He says an incompetent mechanic may be the cause of a half dozen deaths.

Henry Carter, Los Angeles, and Charles Foster Fowler, have assembly bills providing for $5000 indemnity bonds for all owners of motor cars as a safeguard for the public in case of accident. Both believe this measure would make it impossible for convicted reckless drivers to obtain licenses.

In order to keep the bonding companies from exacting exorbitant fees, Mr. Carter suggests

Aviators Recovering After Plane Crashes

TURLOCK, Calif., Jan. 15.—Jack Freitas and Lloyd Johnson, local aviators, are recovering from injuries here today received when the plane in which they were flying plunged 1,000 feet to earth near North Turlock. Johnson suffered a broken leg and fractured skull. The engine of the plane is believed to have stalled, causing the machine to nose dive to earth.

EMPLOYEES GIVEN STOCK AS BONUS

Western Auto Supply Co., Makes Distribution On Basis of Service

During the first week of January, the Western Auto Supply Co. distributed to its employees a bonus in the form of common stock. Each employee who had been in the service of the company for one calendar year, ending January 1, received this bonus, amounting to one-twelfth of his annual earnings.

This system of distribution has been in effect at the Western Auto Supply Co. during the past few years. The total amount distributed this year amounted to nearly $30,000, according to Mr. Peppardine, president of the company.

Since its inception the officials of the company have encouraged employees to become stockholders, until today a goodly portion of the outstanding stock is in the hands of those who are actively employed in the service of the company and who are responsible for the rapid growth of the concern.

This company advocates the theory that the interest of the employer and employee are mutual and that in order to expect the proper co-operation from its employees, any concern must have the interest of the employees at heart. For this reason the company finds it profitable not only to pay its co-workers salaries as high, and in many cases higher, than the average wage, but also to give liberal bonuses in stock.

The company urges its men to keep the stock as well as dividends from year to year and accumulate a worth while interest in the business. The Western Auto Supply Co. employees and officials call themselves the "Western Auto family." The spirit of friendliness and good fellowship can be seen throughout the organization and this factor is largely responsible for the conscientious work among all its people.

NEW TRAFFIC ORDINANCE EXPLAINED

Digest Of L. A. Regulations Given For Motorists; Effective Jan. 24

The new traffic ordinance which goes into effect in Los Angeles January 24, is the result of the past six months' study and observation by Miller McClintock, traffic consultant of the Traffic Commission. This ordinance is a complete traffic code and replaces the present one. It has been greatly simplified and made uniform, thus making it easily understood by every motorist. Following are the principal provisions:

Turning: At intersections other than those in the central traffic district right turns may be made with or against signals, but at all places must be made from the line of traffic nearest the curb. Left turns may be made only from the line of traffic nearest the center of the roadway. Cutting corners is prohibited. Double left turns are prohibited in the central traffic district and in business districts between the hours of 7 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Left turns are prohibited from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. in the following places:

Into or out of any alley or driveway in the central traffic district or business district.

At the intersections of Hill street and Sixth and Seventh streets.

At the intersections of Broadway and Fifth, Sixth and Seventh streets.

At the intersections of Spring street and Fifth, Sixth and Seventh streets.

At the intersections of Main street and Fifth, Sixth and Seventh streets.

One Way Alleys: In any alley in or terminating in the central traffic district vehicles shall not be driven in a southerly or in an easterly direction.

Sidewalk Stops: Vehicles must be stopped immediately before crossing the sidewalk when leaving any alley or driveway.

Limited Vehicles: The following vehicles must not be operated in the central traffic district between the hours of 7 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Freight vehicles exceeding eight and one-half feet in width.

Freight vehicles with more than 20 feet of overhanging load.

New Highway On Coast Is Nearly Ready

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—A fine new highway where none existed before between Huntington Beach and Newport, on the Orange county coast line, will soon be open for motor traffic. Completion of the bridge across the Santa Ana river, now under construction, will permit travel over the three and one-half miles of new pavement recently completed.

This unit of paving is a part of the Huntington Beach-Corona Del Mar contract. Grading has been completed on the unpaved portion which is also ready for traffic, it was announced by state motor vehicle department officials here today.

Commencing at Huntington Beach the new state highway parallels the Pacific Electric and Southern Pacific railroads along the ocean beach, crosses the Santa Ana river and runs along the base of the bluff past Newport to Promontory Point, where it climbs eighty feet to the picturesque cliffs overlooking beautiful Newport Bay and extends on southward through Corona Del Mar.

NEW MODELS ARE ON DISPLAY HERE

Seven Jewett Cars, Showing Latest Changes, Now At Local Agency

With important changes in appearance and mechanical improvements, seven new Jewett models are now on display and constitute the new year offerings of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co., says D. R. Tompkins, 217 West Colorado boulevard, Paige and Jewett distributor, who recently took over the business of Ralph Bliss.

Mr. Tompkins says this is practically the first change ever made in the Jewett and the resulting reception given the Jewett by over 100,000 owners guarantees the popularity of the new models. The changes in the new Jewett models are of a very decided character and in spite of the fact 1924 was the most successful year Jewett has known, engineers set about to build a car of even more decisive advantages, said Mr. Tompkins, one of the most important changes being a heavier crankshaft. The new crankshaft is thirty pounds heavier and is scientifically counter-weighted, bearings are improved and lighter cast pistons used.

Hydraulic four-wheel brakes are optional at slight extra cost. Lower chassis and full balloon tires feature the new models, as well as the lines of the cowl and hood. Five of the new models are closed types and the line presents both standard and de luxe cars.

PEDESTRIANS DISREGARD SAFETY

Report Of Committee Named To Consider Hazards Is Made Public

In view of the new traffic ordinance that goes into effect in Los Angeles January 24, the report of the committee on pedestrian hazards appointed by the Massachusetts Safety council to determine to what extent the pedestrian was a factor in the deaths and injuries on the highways last year, is of interest.

Several large eastern cities were included in the studies of this committee and a copy of its report received by the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California is believed to reflect the conditions that exist in all large cities today, including Los Angeles.

In the final summing up of the situation the committee frankly coincides in the findings of the Automobile Club of Southern California that safety in the last analysis is up to the individual. In summing up the situation the committee says:

Disregard Laws
"There exists a reckless group of pedestrians, numbering as high as 10 per cent, who disregard all police regulations made for their safety, and who walk into approaching motor traffic with no attention to the hazards involved."

"The increase in the number of accidents involving children, while primarily due to the greater volume of motor traffic, will not be checked while the streets continue to be used as playgrounds, or until the children are better informed as to the speed of approaching vehicles, when they attempt to cross the street or highway under what seems to them to be safe conditions."

"In rural communities, where there are no sidewalks, pedestrians should be urged by local authorities to use the left side of the roadway, where they are not in as great danger of being struck down by automobiles approaching from behind."

Should Judge Speed
"There is no safe interval of distance that can be measured in feet to guide the pedestrian in approaching the highway where there is no traffic control, since elderly people require twice the time of more physically alert persons, but every person, when about to cross a street, should consider its width, its volume of traffic, and his own physical condition."

Briefly stated, wait for a long break in traffic, with no speeding auto approaching.

"Quite apart from the efforts that will be directed against reckless motorists, death and injury from motor vehicles in 1925 can be checked only by some dramatic, state-wide appeal to pedestrians for their universal participation in a real safety crusade."

Kicks, Abuse Charged To Comedian by Wife

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Alexander Carr, formerly Miss Helen Cressman, an actress, sued the film and stage comedian of "Potash and Perlmutter" fame today for divorce. Carr, his wife charged, kicked her and generally abused her during their three months of married life.

OVERLAND PRICE REDUCTION MADE

Lower Prices On All Models Announced By Factory At New York Show

The drastic price cut announced by Willys-Overland Co., Toledo, O., on Overland four-cylinder models, came as a bomb-shell at the silver jubilee in New York, according to H. H. Murray, of B. W. Sloan, Inc., 905 South Brand boulevard, Glendale Willys-Knight and Overland dealers.

The new factory list prices make the touring car and roadster at $495, a cut of $35. The coupe-sedan is cut to $585. The coupe to $635 and sedan to $715. The new all-steel sedan is reduced $135, the all-steel coupe $60 and all other open types, $35. The all-steel sedan hasn't been in production more than three months and the $135 cut on this model was surprising, which, according to Mr. Murray, is one of the best little cars ever built.

ASSOCIATION WILL STAGE LARGE SHOW

First Exclusive Exhibition To Take Place March 7 to 14 and Contain Latest Models, Numerous Features

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff.

Glendale will be painted in bright colors on the motor map of Southern California during the eight days from March 7 to 14, inclusive, when the first automobile show of the Motor Car Dealers' association will be staged. The location will be close to the center of the business district, for the convenience of the thousands who will daily throng the big tent. Each of the twenty members of the association will enter a number of their latest models.

The decision to hold the show was made at the last meeting of the Motor Car Dealers' association, held Wednesday, January 14, President Lyman P. Clark presiding. Plans for the event, which is to be conducted on an elaborate scale, are in charge of a committee headed by P. A. Kelley and comprising, in addition, William Tanner and Charles McDaniel.

Attendance Prizes
The expenses of the show, which will be heavy, will be met by the dealers, Mr. Kelley states. To offset this and to provide funds for the handsome attendance prizes that will be given away nightly, a nominal admission fee of 10 cents will be charged.

The tent will be gaily decorated and each separate booth will be festooned in bright colors.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.—Advertisement.

NEVER BEFORE SUCH AN EIGHT AT SUCH A PRICE

8

The new Hupmobile Eight at last strikes that fine balance between price and efficiency toward which the motor car industry has been working for 20 years.

If your experience has included eight-cylinder cars—and if you have thought you already know the very finest in motoring—drive the Hupmobile Eight.

You will find that in many respects the Hupmobile Eight far outdistances anything hitherto accomplished in eight-cylinder engineering in America.

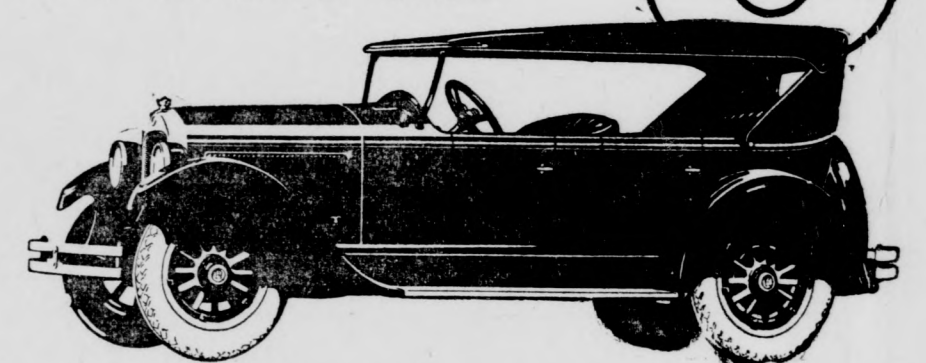

It has beauty of design, finish and equipment not excelled within $1,000 of its price; and its own price is less than that of many sixes.

It produces more power per cubic inch of piston displacement than anything which has preceded it.

Its performance is so smooth and symmetrical that there is not even a murmur of "roughness" anywhere in the engine's entire power and speed range.

More than any other fine car, it combines compactness for handling and parking with roominess for riding comfort.

It has a finer and better balanced combination of speed, lugging power and rapid acceleration than the eight type has ever before presented.

It records an average gasoline economy heretofore unequalled among eights—both in continuous high-speed operation and at a steady 20-mile-an-hour pace.

In unison with speeds far beyond your requirements, pick-up that almost takes your breath away, and the certainty of four-wheel hydraulic brake control, it offers unprecedented eight-cylinder gasoline economy, surpassing beauty of design, and all the old-time Hupmobile reliability.

We are ready to demonstrate the Hupmobile Eight against all eights and all superior sixes, and put it to any tests you desire. Come in or phone now.

LOWER PRICES ON ALL CLOSED CARS

Reduction On Maxwells From $30 To $50 Announced By Local Distributors

Increased output and economies effected in the manufacture of the Maxwell line have permitted the makers of these cars to announce reductions in the prices of three models, according to Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, Maxwell and Chrysler dealers, who state that the new figures went into effect on January 5.

The three models on which the prices are reduced are the sedan, on which the reduction amounts to $35; the club coupe, reduced $30; and the club sedan, which takes a cut of $50. The open cars of the Maxwell line remain at the same prices that have prevailed in the past.

"These price reductions have been dictated solely by the policy of the Maxwell manufacturers to share their savings with the motoring public," declares Mr. Clark. "Their immense production, and especially since the latest models of the Maxwell were placed on sale, has made it possible for the company to manufacture Maxwell cars at a distinct saving on the prices that were formerly in effect, and while the reductions cannot be regarded as sweeping, they represent a marked concession to the purchasers of Maxwell cars in that they pass on the savings in the cost to the ultimate purchaser of transportation."

"The quality that has made the Maxwell the biggest motor car value in the ranks of four cylinder cars is still maintained throughout, in spite of the price cut."

that liability insurance, written by private companies, automobile clubs or the state, be accepted in lieu of $5000 bonds.

A half million dollar increase was allowed in the budget for the Division of Motor Vehicles due to the increasing number of motor cars registered, employing additional help and requiring greater equipment. While license fees and weight taxes, it is estimated, will amount to $9,000,000, only $2,400,000 will be spent in administering the law.

It is revealed that all highway commission costs, with the exception of salaries for the three commissioners and the state highway engineer totalling $20,800 annually, will be charged against the gasoline tax, or taken from the bond issues and excess license funds.

days of the show, thus affording a pleasing variety. The entertainment program will also be changed daily, Mr. Kelley states. This opportunity to examine the latest models of leading makes of cars, under one roof and with an accompanying program of genuine merit, is certain to bring Glendale people to the tent not once but several times during the progress of the show, dealers believe. A large number of people from Hollywood, Pasadena, Burbank, Eagle Rock, Montrose and other surrounding points will also visit the first automobile show of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association, and plans are being made by the committee in charge to accommodate at least 3,000 people daily, Mr. Kelley states.

STUDEBAKER GOOD AFTER LONG TRIP

Mrs. Nelson And Daughter Tour East And South At Small Expenses

"Studebaker light six's can't be beat," said Don Packer, of Packer Motor Co., 245 South Brand boulevard, Glendale Studebaker distributor, and told the story of a car purchased from his firm that has performed remarkably.

The car, a 1921 light six, was bought from Mr. Packer, second hand, in October, 1923, by Mrs. A. P. Nelson and used in her real estate business in Glendale until the spring of 1924. It was then shipped to Avalon, Catalina Island, and again used in the real estate business. It was given rough usage on the island, standing in the open and rusting from the salt air. About September 15, bolts were tightened, carbon removed, slight adjustments made, and the car shipped back to the mainland. On the last day of September, Mrs. Nelson and daughter, Audry, left Glendale to tour eastern and southern states.

Here is the route they took in the Studebaker: Mojave desert to Needles, through Arizona, Grand Canyon, Petrified Forest, Painted Desert and cliff dwellers; New Mexico, Santa Fe trail, Gallup, La Bajada grade, Albuquerque, Santa Fe, Raton and Raton pass into Trinidad, Colorado, following the National Old trail and slippery adobe clay roads were encountered; thence through Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, two days being mountain travelling, West Virginia, Maryland, Washington, D. C., back into Maryland, Pennsylvania to New Jersey and New York; total days travelling, eighteen; tire changes, two; repair expenditure, none.

Leaving New York, Mrs. Nelson and daughter drove down the Atlantic coast through New Jersey, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia into Florida, arriving in Glendale in just 30 days after leaving Glendale, having covered 5,000 miles with only three tire changes and no repair expense. Mrs. Nelson said that it is a marvel any car could hold together on some of the roads in southern states. In Georgia she found only 14 miles of good roads, the remainder being corduroy, chuck holes and sand.

On November 13 the Nelsons left Tampa, Florida, and followed the Old Spanish trail through sand a foot deep, detour after detour, through Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and again into California and the land of good roads, arriving in Glendale on December 3.

CADILLAC COACH FEATURE OF SHOW

Visitors to New York Salon Marvel at Conveniences Found on Model

"The new Cadillac coach, built on the standard V-63 chassis, is a feature of the Cadillac display at the New York automobile show," says William Court, of the Court Motor Co., 301 South Brand boulevard, local distributor.

"This beautiful new body, which was developed by Cadillac and Fisher engineers, possesses ample seating capacity for five, is well proportioned, low, graceful and beautifully finished. It is a car of great utility and unusual value."

"The Cadillac Motor Car Co. in designing this striking new body style, has left nothing undone to make it one of the outstanding features of the Cadillac line in 1925. The coach is finished in Cadillac Duco green, relieved by an appropriate stripe. The large plate-glass windows, which lower or raise with ease, combined with the one-piece ventilating windshield, make the coach as light and airy as an open model.

"The wide flush doors afford easy access to the roomy interior, which is trimmed in taupe mohair plush with carpet to match. The individual folding front seats are models of comfort, and the rear seat, which has a width of 50 1/2 inches, possesses ample room for three passengers."

THREE CUPS WON BY BUICK RACES

Triple Victory on Spanish Track Reveals Power Of American Car

Although the Buick Motor Co. has given up speed racing, the Buick is still winning laurels on the track, according to Ray Galvin, sales manager for Tanner & Hall, 622 South Brand boulevard, Buick distributors in the Glendale territory, word having just been received of the victory of a valve-in-head car in a race at the National Autodrome in Sittges, Spain.

After trial heats in which two cars of American manufacture, one of Spanish make and one made in Italy competed, the Buick won over its three competitors in the final heat and was awarded three cups, one for victory, one for the best all-around performance and one for turning the fastest lap. After the race it was found the Buick had used no water and less than four gallons of gasoline for the entire 62 miles of the final heat.

Mrs. Nelson covered a distance of 9,000 miles with a total repair expense of 50 cents when she had the ignition points cleaned in Texas. She says they drove in water up to the running boards, in sand a foot deep, terrible chuck holes, adobe roads, from sea level to an elevation of 8,000 feet, and arrived home with the car running perfectly.

No Better Material In Any Car at Any Price

The sturdy qualities that make the good Maxwell so durable and dependable are the natural results of materials and methods of manufacture usually associated with cars of far higher price.

There are approximately 38 fast wearing parts in all automobiles. Irrespective of price there is nothing superior to the good Maxwell at those 38 points.

More expensive alloy steels are used in the good Maxwell than in many cars selling for twice or thrice as much.

Furthermore, the group of engineers who share credit for the advancement and perfection of the good Maxwell—the same group that designed the Chrysler Six—has practically eliminated all vibration. This is a refinement of operation hitherto assumed to be impossible with a four-cylinder car.

Every penny you invest in the good Maxwell will work for you overtime. It is apparent from the testimony of its owners that it is actually a better car than anything at anywhere near its price.

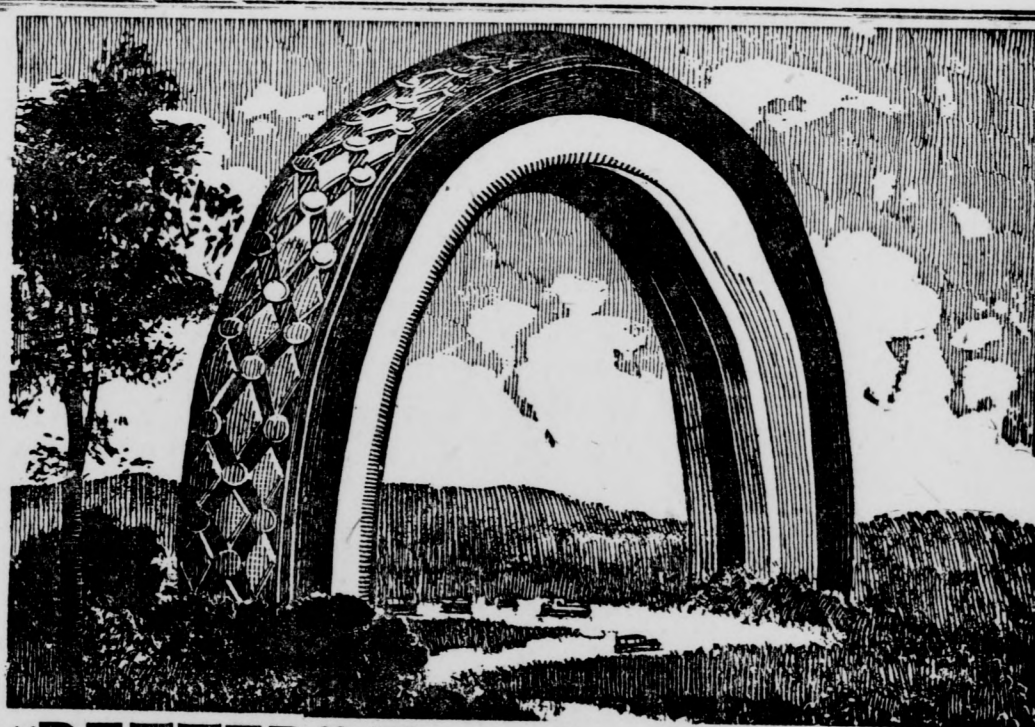

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time payments. Ask about Maxwell's attractive plan.

MANY CLUBS SEEK BOXING PERMITS

Over Thirty Applications Are Before Commission at Meeting Today

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15.—Thirty odd applications for boxing permits for permanent permits to hold shows under the new boxing act confronted the State Athletic Commission when it convened here today at the call of Chairman Seth W. P. Strelinger for its second meeting.

In addition to the requests from clubs and promoters, the commission has been literally swamped with applications by managers, seconds, boxers, physicians and other ring attendants for licenses. Fully 200 fighters have asked for permission to appear in long round contests in California, it was announced.

Applications of the following clubs and promoters were expected to be acted upon at the session of the boxing commissioners today: D. J. Lindsay, Santa Cruz; J. P. Lacerda, San Jose; C. D. Marshall, Fort Bragg; C. I. McCoy, Santa Ana; Gordon Prentice, Escondido; Leland F. Sanderson, San Luis Obispo; W. W. Shaw, San Luis Obispo; J. Adams, Petaluma; Dr. P. A. Mulikin, San Luis Obispo; W. E. Whitney, Willits; P. J. Derkum, Bakersfield; C. R. Mann, San Mateo; Mark C. Albert, Paso Robles; Jack Meyers, Vallejo, and American Legion posts of San Jose, Woodland, Hollister, Watsonville, Whittier, Visalia, Crescent City, Hollywood, Culver City, and Marysville.

Rules and regulations of the new commission were scheduled for signature by the three commissioners this morning. Announcement was made that in the future meetings of the commission will be distributed between Los Angeles, San Diego and Sacramento, to the home cities of the three commissioners.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Flavored with the customs of '76, the first baseball society function attendant upon the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the National League, will take place on February 2 at the Broadway Central hotel in this city. The hour, noon sharp.

The original delegates of the league met at the same hotel fifty years ago, but the first delegate, as nearly as can be ascertained arrived at 10 o'clock in the morning and the others straggled in all the way until noon. This was done with premeditation, Wm. A. Hulbert, who called the convention together did not wish the guests to arrive en masse. He had a special word for each as they entered separately.

When all had assembled, Hulbert locked the door of the assembly room and put the key in his pocket. Turning to his astonished guests, he explained he was determined to keep them there until they heard what he had to say.

John A. Heydler, present head of the league, thinks he will be able to omit the locking in ceremony this time, though there have been times when it seemed as if league members would have to be locked in or locked out in order to keep the peace.

But in many respects, the meeting will have the flavor of that momentous meeting fifty years ago. One of the attendees at that first meeting, Chas. A. Chase of Louisville, still is alive, and may be present. Hulbert and Albert G. Spalding, who really built the league, and who have been dead for some years, will be eulogized.

An old-fashioned buffet luncheon, of the kind fashionable in the middle seventies, will be served. It will include a great joint of beef, dished up by a white capped chef.

An effort is being made to trace the living ball players to 1876 and bring them to the meeting. Not many, of course, will be found. So far the officials have located Tom York, Jack Burdock, John F. Morrill, Geo. Wright, A. J. Reach, Jim White, Cal McVey, Geo. Washington Bradley and one or two more. The rest of them have passed on. One of the latest to die was Anson, who had counted, up to his death two years ago, on living to see the anniversary.

The minutes of the first meeting still are preserved, and one of the ceremonies will be the reading by President Heydler, who also happens to be secretary and treasurer of the league.

Two former presidents of the league, still are living and they have been invited to attend the meeting. They are John K. Tener and Col. A. G. Mills. The oldest living official scorer and the oldest living umpire also will be guests.

Time Mellows 'Bone'

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News.

Fate hands out her various portions of fame in odd packages—much after the manner of fun loving birthday givers. Some of her bundles, shaped like quarts turn out to be gold bricks. Other gifts, like limburger cheese, improve with age.

Now, there's that slice she handed Fred Merkle.

Sixteen years ago she called Merkle to the center of the baseball stage and presented him with a gold medal, resplendent with red, white and blue ribbons and velvet-lined case, and bearing on the back the trite inscription, "Bonehead."

Today Merkle is destined to come back to the big show as a hero—the hero of that occasion. The derision has been mellowed by the years to a feeling of affection for the man who lived down that "bonehead play" and made baseball give him his rightful place in the hall of the greats.

Climbed High Despite That

He ranks as one of the smartest first basemen the game has produced, a timely and hard hitter, a fleet-footed runner, and of a type that is an asset to the game.

And he is far from done.

Miller Huggins' consideration of Merkle for the post of coach and possibly pinch hitter with the Yankee team of 1925 brings Merkle's case to the forefront again.

Merkle was a youngster in the game and a member of the Giants when the 1908 season rolled toward a climax—an ending that was to become one of the most thrilling and sensational in the game's history.

The Giants and Cubs were fighting tooth and nail for the National League pennant. They came together for their final series late in September. McGraw inserted Merkle in the ninth inning of one of the crucial games as a pinch hitter with the score a tie. Merkle came through with a ringing base hit. The Giant rooters went wild with glee—temporarily. The play moved a Giant runner to third and left Merkle on first, of course.

The man who followed Merkle slammed a clean hit to the outfield and the man on third raced home with what seemed to be the winning run.

Then it happened.

The players started from the field. The fans started to yell. The umpires, acting on a ruling made but a week or so previously, decided that the run did not count, as it had been made on a forced play. The game, therefore, was declared a tie contest.

How It Changed Things

The season ended with the Cubs and Giants tied for the championship and a "playoff" of the tie was ordered. The Giants lost that game, the championship and, by it, the chance to figure in a world's series.

Oh, how the baseball world rode Merkle. It rode him for years. He was placed with Anderson, the man who stole third with the bases full, and other heroic goals.

Merkle took it, though. McGraw showed his confidence in Merkle by retaining him. Fred played first for the Giants until traded to the Dodgers eight years later for Catcher Lew McCarty.

A few years ago Merkle drifted out of the big show. He landed with Rochester, and his playing with that outfit ever since has

Sportdom All Over

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Rumblings from Rome that couldn't have been denied emanating when Old Man Vesuvius belched forth his fire and lava and annihilated Pompeii, came over cables yesterday telling of "social and political disturbances" causing the sudden evacuation from Caesar's home town, of the "Ben Hur" company.

This makes the actor as good as dead in production of General Lew Wallace's work by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Dissension, or jealousy, or whatever the monster was that invaded the ranks of the company, Charlie Brabin was sent over to direct, marked the first eruption.

Stars were changed, scenario writer fired, director fired and trouble popped all around.

Now it's trouble "politically." That might mean a lot of things. It means a lot more than Americans are told or much of the information wouldn't have been censored before leaving Italy, as cable dispatch said. All that needs to happen now to "Ben Hur" company to make it "disgraced" is to have company drowned on way back.

Flashes of scenes taken for screen version reached here a few weeks back and Ye Ed noted one of two directors who have had finger in production—Fred Niblo or Charles Brabin—didn't fail to take note of galley slaves in Frank Lloyd's "The Sea Hawk." If we remember rightly Lew Wallace didn't say anything about galley slaves in his version of "Ben Hur."

Fans may expect to pay "top" price to see this unique production when it reaches American screens. There's a lot of "ash can" expense that must be got back and the consumer always pays and pays and pays.

You'll be told by press agents hibernating in Culver City that "Ben Hur" is not just a picture but a super-picture, whatever that means. It will be the greatest picture ever created and all that but we'll wager nothing will be said about thousands of feet of film that were thrown in Roman ash cans.

Just remember George Walsh went across the pond to do the role of "Ben Hur"; June Mathis also got a round-trip ticket to do the scenario and Charles Brabin, ditto, to direct. None of these three were in on the finish. This means that virtually all the work accomplished by these three high-salaried people reached Roman ash cans.

And for no reason at all as far as Director Charles Brabin been one of the features of the International league season. Last year he hit .349. He swatted twenty-four home runs, tying with Kelly of Toronto for second honors in that branch of the batting game.

was concerned. Charley Brabin is just as good a director and has proved it, as Fred Niblo ever will be. June Mathis is just as good a scenario writer and probably better than Bess Meredith who took her place.

George Walsh isn't as good an actor as Ramon Navarro. He isn't as good a type for the part of "Ben Hur." But that doesn't bring back those thousands of dollars wasted because of differences within the producing concern. Nor is that any of our or your business. But what is much your business and mine is that you, I and the other fellow are expected to pay for all this stuff Roman ash cans hold and we don't see it.

Reminds Ye Ed of comment made by "Bugs" Baer, columnist and humorist, when he and Ye Ed sat down to a table in New York cabaret where in covert charge was made. Bugs commented that he paid $2 for the cover and then manager wouldn't let him take it home after he'd paid for it.

You'll be told what a great picture "Ben Hur" is but you won't be told what you're expected to pay for when you leave the box office for a peek inside. Just remember you're paying to see thousands of dollars and maybe millions for thousands of feet of film back in Roman ash cans, just because of "art in the movies." If that be art, we can make a Swiss watch.

Movie producers will literally throw away thousands of dollars for no reason at all, and at the same time, work a defenseless "extra" all day and part of the night and give him in return one day's pay. If he makes a holler he's out of luck when he looks for his next day's work. They have his "number."

All of which comes under the head of "art in the movies."

We all make mistakes—this is why Mr. Faber publishes our product. But—the movies, never. A mistake in the movies comes under head of "art" and for that "art" you and I and the other fellow pay and pay and pay.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

PASSAIC, N. J., Jan. 15.—Out here in this thriving manufacturing city which is chiefly famous, however, for a basketball team that has gone through five consecutive seasons without a defeat and is now under headway in a sixth season with a record of 152 straight victories to date, an interesting problem is being worked out.

It bears upon the question of a coach and the quality of his material. Ernest Blood, the coach who gave Passaic his winning style of play, is sitting among the spectators these days, a coach emeritus, while the boys play under the instruction of a new mentor, Amasa A. Marks.

So far the Wool City five has kept on winning, chiefly, it would seem, because it has had the benefit of Blood's coaching in recent years and knows the style of play he teaches.

But in most sports where a change of the sort has been made a time comes when the dope, for some mysterious reason, is lost and the winning outfit returns to average in the matter of defeat and victory.

Will Passaic continue her winning course under Marks, or will a day come this season or more likely next, when the players hear the final whistle blow and stare with blanched, wondering faces at the sinister figure of defeat?

Ernest Blood will not presume to answer this question. He insists that the winning of games is but incidental to the development of good sportsmanship, sound physique and character through competition. Blood is still director of physical training in the Passaic schools and thus has general oversight over coaching, but he is doing no active work in this respect.

Not every school board would be so large minded as to consent to a request such as Blood made to be relieved of responsibility of coaching in basketball, especially in view of his unvarying success. It would seem to indicate either that the board would be inclined to accept some defeats as being for the good of the souls of these boys, or that they repose implicit faith in the new coach's ability to keep up the winning process.

Blood himself feels that in one way it would be a good thing were the record of sequential victories to be broken, in order that the strain upon the players might be eased. The team of each year feels it has been handed a record and must maintain it.

This is an extraordinary coach beyond all doubt. In his whole coaching career he has lost but one high school game and that was when Passaic cracked in the final game of the state tournament, against Union Hill in 1919.

Before he came to Passaic he had coached Potsdam Normal in upper New York state, winning nine straight championships. After Blood left that school went six years without a championship. Then when the school won the title again Blood arranged for a Passaic-Potsdam game at Potsdam and the Jersey boys won 63 to 12.

No high school team ever defeated Potsdam while Blood was there. And the team of this school defeated many a strong college outfit.

At Passaic under the Blood regime the city went basketball crazy and still is. Grammar school teams grow as luxuriantly as berries.

Yet, oddly enough professional basketball has not made much headway. Paterson, four miles away, has a professional league team but the Passaic team in the same league dropped the city for lack of support and moved away. It is the amateur spirit that thrives.

Coaches ask what is Blood's secret. But he insists there is no secret. Maybe there is not. But it does not look that way. Analyzing Passaic teams one may learn at least something about his methods:

1. Dazzling passing. Blood believes that snappy toss here, there and everywhere is basketball. While running with the ball is not.

2. Accurate shooting. Many a time at practice when his boys were raring to go he kept them at the foul mark, first dropping 48 or 49 shots out of 50, to give them a mark to shoot at.

3. Team play. Temperament and a desire to star always resulted in a player being retired from the team.

4. Reserve strength. Blood often used three squads in one game.

BASKETBALL RESULTS

The first clash of the junior basketball teams of the intermediate schools resulted in a victory for Wilson. The game, played Wednesday afternoon, ended with a score of 38 to 14. The greater part of Wilson's score resulted from distance throws made by Kenneth Davis. The lineup for Wilson was: Forwards, Teddy Edwards, Denny Tatlaw, Gilbert Eckles, Kenneth McCombs; center, Kenneth Davis; guards, Donald Turner, Maurice Wilkins, Charles Temple, Billy Gray.

WALTER HOPES TO BUY COAST CLUB

Johnson Is Endeavoring to Secure Franchise; May Try Oaks Again

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—Walter Johnson, famous pitcher of the Washington Americans, has not given up hope of becoming interested in Oakland or some other Pacific coast club. Johnson, who, with George Weiss, owner of the New Haven club of the Eastern league, has been here more than a week, today declared he had nothing to say but Weiss admitted they were remaining in California in the hopes of buying a coast club.

The Washington hurler, according to Weiss, is chagrined at his failure to buy an interest in the Oakland club.

"It was no fault of ours we did not buy Oakland as we were ready to go ahead but the Oak owners simply declared the deal off," said Weiss.

Johnson, it was said today by his friends, now hopes to get hold of the Vernon club, which was reported sold last week by Ed Maier to H. William Lane, Salt Lake millionaire. The deal, believed practically complete, is now hanging fire.

At the same time it was asserted Johnson and Weiss hoped it might be possible to reopen negotiations for the Oaks. Johnson is known to prefer an interest in the Oakland outfit to any on the coast.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

REDUCING WITHOUT DIETING

A minister was calling on a dear old lady parishioner.

"You have had a long and useful life, Mrs. A. Will you tell me what one thing stands out as contributing most to your happiness?" he asked.

"Yes, Pastor. My vittles," she answered promptly.

Do you love your "vittles"? Good. I do, too. It means that we have at least one source of tri-daily joy. If you are in our class, then you hate to diet to reduce. All right. I'll advise you from the hateful priest. You can reduce without dieting. YOU CAN EXERCISE MORE OR DO MORE PHYSICAL WORK INSTEAD.

Exercise actually will reduce, but here's the fly in the ointment. It has to be strenuous exercise and of considerable duration if the nutriment amount is of great intensity. You see, it has to be strenuous and long enough continued to burn up more than you eat in order to call upon the stored fat.

I'll give you an interesting table I have rearranged to suit this article from Sherman's Chemistry of Food and Nutrition. This data was worked out by several noted scientists—Atwater and Benedict, Lusk, Baker and their collaborators. This will show you how many calories of food (stored as fat or in solution in the body fluids) are actually burned up to produce the energy for them.

Energy expenditure of average-sized man (150 lbs.) per hour under different conditions of activity approximate averages only—adapted from Sherman):

Sleeping, 40-75 calories.
Awake, lying still, 70-85 calories.
Sitting at rest, 100 calories.
Standing at rest, 115 calories.
Walking slowly (about 2-2.3 miles per hour), 200 calories.
Walking actively (about 3 1/2 miles per hour), 300 calories.
Running (about 5 1/2 miles per hour), 500 calories.
Light exercise, 170 calories.
Active exercise, 200 calories.
Severe exercise (such as sawing and chopping wood), 450-600 calories.

You remember at one time there was the fad of standing after eating as a reducing measure. You can see from the table that it would help; that is, if you would stand for a hour after eating you would consume 15 calories more than if you sat. A piece of butter, the size of a good-sized pea, amounts to 15 calories so if you ate 15 calories of butter or any other food more than you needed

—you would nullify the hour's standing.
If you walked slowly for exercise, you would consume but 200 calories. That is 100 calories more than if you sat. You would get sufficient energy for walking for an hour from one medium-sized chocolate cream. Now one medium-sized chocolate cream or other candy (sugar is 115 calories to the ounce; you can reckon simple candies from this) is 100 calories. So you see, if you want an extra 100 calories of candy (or any food) you would have to walk or run for an hour in order to use up the energy produced by that bit of candy. If you want to eat an extra good rich ice cream soda or a rich sundae, you would have to run an hour to counteract its effects. Is it worth it?

I have enumerated these things to show you how you can reduce without dieting. You have to be on the jump every minute of the day, in physical activities, if you are consuming much over your needs, if you want to reduce without dieting. You can see that it is practically an impossible feat. In other words, you have to diet if you want to reduce.

However, exercise plays a very important part in the reducing program, and should be included, for while the actual destruction of fat during the exercise is very small, unless long continued, the speeding up of the internal chemical activities (metabolism) extends over the actual exercising period, and that means that more stored food is burned during the day. This stimulates the body and improves the general health. BUT—WATCH YOUR CALORIC INTAKE.

My Dear Followers—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The name on the reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps. Address your letters to me in care of this office. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to answer every individual. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

RED HAIRD GRIS

Last week, 16 young girls and three men wrote me and complained of red hair! Some weeks my letters run to request for bust developers and some weeks to hair tonics; this week something has started my readers into a hatred of red hair, so much so that 19 of them wrote me about it.

I wish I had red hair. I think it's the loveliest color hair in the world. It doesn't matter whether it is copper red, auburn, carrot, or red gold. Red hair possesses more life and light than any other shade, and invariably, more substance. Limp, dull red hair is unknown. Whether it's the hidden fire in the color, or whether the pigmentation of the hair calls that makes red hair fluff out nicely, or whether I am romancing, I do not know. I do know that red hair always looks well.

There have been times in history when red hair was almost worshipped. During the late part of the Italian Renaissance, the auburn haired woman was sought after by every painter, and her shining head made immortal for ever by Titian. If you've red hair and don't like it, go in for a detailed study of old paintings; any library will have books with colored copies in. You'll get enough so that the spiritual beauty of ancient art once entering into your mind, as it will, you'll begin to appreciate how lucky you are.

I've had readers ask how to dye red hair. You can't change the shade except by deadening it with oil, you simply must live up

Circle Popular

Oakland, California, is interested in Glendale's Mutual Benefit Reading circle, according to a letter read at the circle meeting yesterday by Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman, from Miss Lombard of the department of education in Washington, D. C. This is just one of many calls that are received daily about the circle organization and procedure. Yesterday Mesdames C. L. Viereck, Mae Rosenberg and E. B. Moore went to Azusa to present the work for a group of women, anxious to organize. At the Glendale meeting at the public library several reviews were given in the morning. Mrs. Viereck gave a review of the article "Splendid Government Service If You Ask for It," by Alice Ames Winter, junior past president of the General Federation of Women's clubs. It is a comprehensive sketch of the work of the government for those who write for them. Mrs. A. H. Brown reported the state P.-T. A. board meeting Tuesday in Los Angeles.

Reading by Mrs. Henry from the new study book, "The Job of Being a Dad" by Frank H. Cheley, was most interesting. There were six reasons why it is "Up to Dad," first, boys represent the greatest unspent energy in the community; second, boys are at the very height of susceptibility to impressions; third, boys of today will be completely in power tomorrow; fourth, modern society is the great battleground of boyhood; fifth, because of the organized strength of amusements, boys are what they do; sixth, every boy has not only the right to be well born, but also the right to an all around development, mentally, morally and physically. The author closes this chapter with the statement, "Every time a boy goes bad, a good man dies."

MRS. ROSS ON JOB EARLY AND LATE

Wyoming's Woman Governor Gets First Taste Of Executive Task

By SUE McNAMARA
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 15.—Working early and late, Governor Nellie Ross of Wyoming, getting her first taste of what it really means to be the first woman governor in the United States.

Within a week of the time since Mrs. Ross took the oath of office the state legislature has convened and the plain hotel lobby is filled with shrewd politicians, cigars cocked at aggressive angles. On Monday she conducted her first board meeting.

Mrs. Ross' eyes were weary but her lips smiled gamely as she replied when asked how she liked her job by this time, that she found it "very interesting." Mrs. Ross was associated with her late husband too long not to know that it is poor policy to talk too much before she has got on to the ropes. However, with true western hospitality she invited the writer to seven o'clock dinner at the executive mansion.

Waiting in the stately big room which has been the scene of so many elaborate social functions, the silence which lay over all the beautiful tapestries and soft rugs and cozy lights became an almost tangible thing. Comfort and cheer, but silence, unbroken and steadfast for one who has gone. It will be three months ago that big, strong, genial Governor William Ross was taken away suddenly by apoplexy. The fact seemed to speak all through the house.

The door opened and there she was, the first woman governor of the United States—a little figure all in black with blonde hair and big grey eyes. Instantly a phrase came to the writer which has been said over and over again in Cheyenne:

On Second Thought

"She'd rather just have been William Ross' wife than to have all the honor and power, which being governor herself will give her."

And all through dinner Mrs. Ross kept referring again and again to her husband. She told of the walks they used to take every day around Minnehaha Lake. She spoke of the happiness they had had reading aloud to each other, preferably from Dickens, Mark Twain or Thackeray. She was not unprepared, she said, for the strenuous ordeal of preparing a message because she had seen her husband go through the same thing.

Pictures of the late Governor Ross were everywhere. His strong face with the shrewd, humorous month and the twinkling eyes looked out from the wall, from the heavy carved table and from every corner in the library where after dinner coffee was served. She had taken an hour for dinner and the new governor, the diminutive woman in her black widow's weeds, had a hurry away to the state house again for a night session at making up the budget.

Chivalry and sympathy, it is generally conceded, elected Governor Nellie Ross to take her husband's place.

But Governor Ross is throwing herself into the new job with all the energy and determination at her command. Wyoming, which elected her by such a generous majority has faith that she will assume capably the many burdens already piling up on her slender shoulders.

There are some, of course, who shake their heads and wonder.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—Joint conferences of the State Railroad commission, representatives of the city and county governments and the mayor's union terminal committee of three, looking toward the solution of the union terminal problem, were continued today at the local offices of the commission. The state supreme court has held that the railroad commission is without jurisdiction in this matter and to date the Interstate Commerce Commission, which is declared to hold jurisdiction, has failed to co-operate.

Carlino Scarpitta, Italian-American sculptor, has completed the granite statue of justice which will be placed in the facade of the new hall of justice at Broadway and Temple street. The statue, eyes of which will not be damaged, will adorn the keystone arch above the main entrance to the building.

"If anyone attempts to talk politics to you, talk about the orange crop, real estate booms or California weather, and protect your job." That advice is being given Los Angeles police officers as the result of a conference held yesterday by executives of the police department, who met with Acting Chief A. W. Murray for the weekly get-together.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Americans should be quite well satisfied with a conservative government in Washington. Of course, it lacks some elements of daring which the creative mind might desire by way of political experimentation; but, when we look across the Atlantic and gaze upon the topsy-turvy conditions in Europe, the campaign slogan of some Republicans comes to mind. "Let good enough alone."

And not only let good enough alone—but satisfied with a legislative moratorium, for this country has enough laws, if they are only applied, the writer has come to believe. Every inducement should be made by local, state and national governments to bolster up its law enforcement agencies.

Reverting to the situation in Europe, one notes that Stanley Baldwin in a few weeks' time is having his trouble as prime minister. It must be remembered that the Tory party was defeated a year ago over its protectionist policy and Ramsay MacDonald relieved Baldwin of the reins. The British people would not stand for socialism, likewise they have not and will not stand for discrimination in protection for England's industries. They want to ride a fence and look to the Liberal party to lead them out of the morass of political disintegration. Riding the fence is the chief hobby of the wiser heads in Germany. They doubt the ability of the republic to carry on under the Weimar plan, the Kaiserist government is hopeful. The Junkers are regaining their positions in national esteem because of their intelligence, yet they are too timid to attempt the restoration of a monarchical form of government with Soviet Russia crowding them on one side and France dealing with them in the matter of reparations.

Neither France nor Russia is having Utopian rule. Only a close student of economics and sociology can fathom the political future of these nations. The German and English people have a philosophy of life which can be pretty well depended upon, as witness the way these nations have succeeded in carrying on. But the Russian peasant's simplicity and the communist "workers' duplicity, combining to obliterate the bourgeoisie, leaves only an algebraic X as an answer to a waiting world wanting to know what is to become of Russia. It may be that communism will dissipate itself in the Orient. France has made itself felt in France, and only the guiding hand of the Caillaux seems able to stem the tide of disaster.

In the meanwhile, America may be thankful it has remained aloof. What super-statesmanship it would have required to deal with the European muddle!

Report Shows Sheriff And Deputies Active

The Los Angeles county sheriff's office spent a busy year in 1922, according to a summary of criminal division work just compiled by E. M. Kirby, the sheriff, and released by Undersheriff Biscailuz. The summary shows that 7,447 crimes were investigated by the sheriff's office during the year. The total number of major crimes committed reached 1,644. These were divided as follows: Homicides, 127; burglaries, 935; robberies, 532. Total arrests made numbered 4,118. There were 556 arrests for violation of the prohibition amendment, with fines assessed offenders brought to justice through the sheriff's office totaling $137,086.

A feature of the work of the county department was the large number of automobiles located after they had been stolen. More than one-sixth of all the cars recovered by the many agencies engaged in this work were handled through the office of Sheriff William I. Traeger. There were 9,282 automobiles reported stolen during 1922. Of this number eighty-eight per cent or 8,305 were recovered. The Los Angeles county sheriff's office turned back 1,139 cars valued at $410,753 to their rightful owners.

The year just ended is the most memorable one for Sheriff Traeger. Under-Sheriff Biscailuz and his assistants, statisticians on criminology point out.

ROOSEVELT IS JUSSEURAND FAVORITE

Retiring French Ambassador Carries 'Tennis Cabinet' As Fondest Memory

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Jules Jusserand, ambassador from France, is taking away from Washington with him many of the pleasantest memories of his full and useful life. But when you ask him what is the pleasantest of all, he will tell you the days of the Roosevelt "tennis cabinet."

M. Jusserand was what might be called the "premier" of that cabinet. He was always there at the courts whenever the strenuous president desired a game. He was always ready for a swim or a ride—a perfect companion for the executive champion of the strenuous life.

And Jules Jusserand in the last of the "cabinet" to quit Washington. The others have been long gone. Three of the distinguished company, in addition to T. R. himself, have passed beyond. Most of T. R.'s cronies were in the tennis cabinet. There was Gifford Pinchot and Jimmie Garfield and Bob Bacon, Archie Butt, Lawrence O. Murray, Truman Newberry and Herbert Knox Smith.

But, fond as he was of all of these, there was an especial devotion on his part toward the French ambassador and it was warmly reciprocated by the volatile and vivacious Jusserand. It was largely due to his love for Jusserand that Colonel Roosevelt wanted to fight for France when America was at last standing beside her in the World War.

No Rest For Him

M. Jusserand says that since he announced his retirement his friends have said they supposed he was going home to rest.

"They do not know," he added, "that rest is an unpalatable word to a member of the tennis cabinet. No, I do not want rest. I shall work on 'till the end."

M. Jusserand was proud of his position in the "tennis cabinet." He still is. Small and wiry he lacked the physique and endurance of Roosevelt himself and some of his younger and more stalwart companions, but Jusserand admits to only one defeat in strenuousness. One day President Roosevelt returned to the White House wet and covered with mud. Behind him strode the bedraggled figure of Jimmie Sloan, his never-failing secret service companion. T. R. steamed into the White House full speed ahead. He had set a terrific pace through rain and slush, over fences, railroad tracks, unplowed fields, hill and dale, and during the latter part of the journey had not once looked around. But once inside the executive mansion, he whirled about. He saw only the faithful and fagged Jimmie.

"Where is he?" demanded the president.

"I don't know, sir. I saw him last about three-quarters of an hour ago."

Jules Jean Jusserand had been "lost."

Probably the most delightful story of the companionship of Jusserand and Roosevelt is the one of a certain early fall hike through beautiful Rock Creek Park. Several members of the cabinet in addition to the French ambassador were along. At last the party came to a secluded pool. It was nothing at all for T. R. to wade the creek with all his clothes on, leading his companions in "follow my leader," style. But this day the exponent of the strenuous but simple life had other ideas.

"Who is with me for a swim?" he exclaimed.

There was a chorus of assent. Now, according to the legend, no bathing suits were handy, but this was no deterrent. Clothes were soon hung on a hickory limb and calling "last one in is 'it,'" T. R. plunged into the cold water in regular old swimming-habit fashion.

The "cabinet" had been splashing around for a minute or two when suddenly Colonel Roosevelt broke into a roar of laughter. He was looking at Jusserand.

"Why, Mr. Ambassador," he shouted in glee, "you have your gloves on! Won't you please tell me why?"

The ambassador looked at his hands and sure enough the kid gloves were there. For a moment he was nonplussed. Then his quick wit and his training in diplomacy came to his rescue.

"Ah, Mr. President," he explained, "suppose we should meet some ladies."

LONDON, Jan. 15.—British aristocracy has snatched another American heiress. The engagement of Miss Barbara Guggenheim of New York and R. Lawson Johnston of London is announced.

Miss Guggenheim is the daughter of Solomon Guggenheim, the "copper king." She is the second of her family to become the bride of an Englishman, her sister, Eleanor, having married Sir Castle-Steward about four years ago.

The mother-in-law-to-be of Miss Guggenheim is an American. She was Miss Fanny Roberts Dunlap of Boston.

The wedding will take place early in the new year.

TIRE TROUBLE AT END, SAYS EXPERT

New Method of Rebuilding Wornout Casings Told By W. H. Saxon

"At last a panacea has been found for that most expensive feature of motoring—tire wear," said W. H. Saxon, manager of the Biltwell Co.'s store No. 5, 914 South San Fernando road, "and that is in the form of the noted Biltwell rebuild tire."

Mr. Saxon has been an expert in the tire business for many years and says the new rebuild system is one of the best yet devised and is so successful that the firm is able to give the regular standard new tire guarantee on tires it "rebuilds." He says the great feature is the fact an old tire can be rebuilt for less than what an ordinary retread will cost. This is made possible through the large chain of stores maintained by the Biltwell Co.

The old way, Mr. Saxon explained, was to take off the tread and replace it with a new one. As soon as the strip became hot it started to give, in many instances coming off in large pieces. The Biltwell way is to take the tire, strip it down to the cushion, not stopping at the breaker strip, and thus tell whether the carcass is really worth rebuilding.

Better Business for 1923 Seen by Concern

Business in 1923 is proving better than at any time in history, according to G. H. Rohr, 237 South Verdugo road, manager of Layrite Hardware Flooring Co., adding that business is so good, six men were added to the payroll.

Mr. Rohr's concern has been in business in Glendale two years and nearly all employees have been with him since he started, no employee having less than one year's service. Every man is a specialist in his branch of the work. Mr. Rohr's theory being that a man can't be "a jack of all trades" and be proficient. Last year the Layrite company had 1100 jobs on its books and employed sixteen men.

FIX COSTS OF CHURCH AT $184,782

Congregation Will Vote on Proposed Edifice at Meeting Sunday

Considering their building project, which has been under discussion for several months, members of First Baptist church heard reports at a meeting last night which show that the total cost of the church, including organ and furnishings, would be $184,782.

The meeting was called to consider the report of the building committee of twenty-five members. Rev. Ernest E. Ford, pastor, presided. George Bentley, chairman of the executive building committee of five members, stated that plans were completed, bids were in, and that the total cost of the church would be as already stated. His report was accepted.

Roy L. Kent, chairman of the finance committee, presented a schedule of estimated requirements during building operations, covering a period of eight months. After careful explanations and a study of resources, it was decided to take the matter up on Sunday morning, when a larger representation of the church membership will be present.

EXTENSIONS ON HOMESTEADS
RIVERSIDE, Jan. 15.—More than 1000 men and women members of the Ku Klux Klan marched here in an orderly, but very spectacular parade, while hundreds on the side lines watched the pageant pass over Main, Eleventh and Market streets. One of the spectacular features was the flight of an airplane carrying the flaming cross. The Klan band of Los Angeles led the parade.

CATTLE FORESTRY CHIEF
SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 15.—Francis Cuttle of Riverside has been re-elected president of the Tri-County Reforestation committee. G. W. Sherwood is recording secretary and W. B. Clancy, treasurer. A year of deficient rainfall, such as the last, despite its effect on the crop situation, has done more to create public sentiment in favor of conservation of water resources than could be done by any other means, President Cuttle said.

Sends Thanks For Award To Local Church

The check for $100, sent to the Central Christian church by The Glendale Evening News as an award for having the largest percentage of members subscribers of the paper, will be used in the purchasing of an addressograph machine, according to a letter received by A. T. Cowan, publisher, from G. C. Stoler, secretary of the official board. The appreciation of the board and members is expressed in the following letter:

"The official board of the Central Christian church at its last meeting voted unanimously to extend to you and your paper their sincere appreciation for the check of $100, which was given on account of our church's having more of its membership on your subscription list than any other church in Glendale.

The money was voted to be used in connection with purchasing an addressograph machine for the office of the church, which is something we have needed for some time."

That all employees in lunch-rooms and cafeterias in Glendale schools will be insured under the workmen's compensation act, both for their own protection and for the protection of the Parent-Teacher associations under which they work, is a plan that will undoubtedly be put in operation shortly, following a suggestion made yesterday afternoon by Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, at the meeting of Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher associations at Harvard High school. Mrs. Arthur Franklin is chairman of the committee investigating the insurance proposition.

Mrs. O. H. Spradling, federation president, was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. George U. Moyse and Mr. White were speakers on the coming school bond election. Accounts of their talks are given in another column of this edition of The Glendale Evening News.

With the rapid growth of the P-T-A. movement in Glendale and the many matters of business to be considered at the federation meetings, the officers feel need for more time, and all future meetings are to begin at 2 o'clock. All associations have been asked to co-operate in furnishing salvage for the Children's hospital. The salvage is to be collected by the Hi-Y boys. Those having salvage can communicate with Alex C. Kelley at the Y. M. C. A. office, or with Mrs. E. J. Morgan, president of the Glendale Auxiliary of the Children's hospital. Tentative plans were discussed for a Glendale poster for the state convention in May at Fresno, Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., is chairman of a committee to revise the P-T-A. dues. Serving with her are Mrs. A. H. Brown and Mrs. Arthur Franklin.

Unanimous decision was made to send a letter of appreciation to Assemblyman Frank C. Weller of Glendale, for his presentation of the resolution in the state legislature ratifying the child labor amendment. Mrs. R. N. Stryker reported from the committee making investigation of the fathers' auxiliaries. The Colorado school is the only one of the fathers' organization.

Glendale Parent-Teacher associations are justly proud of the January bulletin issued by the First district, Parent-Teacher association, for it contains a clever poem, "A Child's Lament," written by Mrs. L. D. Torrey of the Accacia Parent-Teacher association of Glendale; a "Parliamentarian's Corner," by Mrs. A. H. Brown of Glendale, district parliamentarian; a sketch on "Founders' Day," by Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson of Glendale, district chairman; a list of new associations formed, with Mrs. W. A. Kulp of Glendale as district chairman, and a "Home Department" column, with Mrs. H. V. Henry of Glendale as district chairman.

Mrs. Nanno Woods of 122 West Milford street, is to be hostess to-night to members of the board of Columbus Parent-Teacher association, and their husbands, at a social affair to plan final details for the play "At the Court of St. Valentine," to be given Thursday night, January 29 at Glendale Intermediate school for the benefit of Columbus P-T-A. Incidental music for seven "living pictures" will be rehearsed, lighting effects discussed and committees named.

Mrs. Woods has been devoting four months to training pupils of the Woods' School of Klever Kid-dies, for the play.

It is asserted in support of the managers' stand that some artists cannot show to advantage over the radio and instances are cited where theatre tickets have been cancelled after a radio performance. The radio men say, however, that if an artist cannot show to advantage over the radio the radio stations will not want his services and that the cancellation of tickets is far less harmful to the theatre than to have a patron attend a performance and show his displeasure to scores of acquaintances.

It is recalled by Broadwayites that managers' protested with equal vigor some years ago against the harm the moving picture might possibly do the legitimate stage. Now, however, there are comparatively few stage successes which are not screened and few great motion picture scenarios which do not find their way in some form on to the speaking stage.

County Supervisors Meet In Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15.—A crowded calendar, calling for discussion of the proposed Golden Gate bridge, legislative reapportionment, the proposal to increase the state gas tax and a scheme to reorganize the state traffic patrol, faced 250 delegates to the annual meeting of the County Supervisors' association of California at the Hotel California. The meeting was called to order by President Thomas McCormack of Rio Vista.

AUXILIARY ELECTS

Officers were elected yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the women's auxiliary of St. Mark's Episcopal church in the Guild hall. Mrs. George A. Robinson was chosen president; Mrs. Archie Parker, vice-president; Miss Ellen Williams, secretary; Mrs. Frank Clark, treasurer; Mrs. A. Bassett, custodian. Plans for the year's work were outlined and teams chosen for the membership drive which will continue until Easter. The auxiliary meets the second Wednesday of each month at the church.

BURBANK TENT SHOW

Starting tonight, "Toby" Walters' Burbank tent players will present "Hearts of the Cumberland," a drama laid in the Cumberland mountains in Pennsylvania and Maryland. Mr. Walters will be cast as a rustic lad, and with the new scenery gotten especially for this production, this play should prove one of the best yet put on by the Burbank company. Commencing Sunday, "Sylvia of the Circus" will be the offering.

THEATRE WAR IS OPENED ON RADIO

Managers Claim Concerts By Actors Ruining Their Business

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Some of the big theatrical managers and producers will lay plans for fighting the air this week. They will determine what action they will take with regard to radio broadcasting by stage stars when they meet with the actors' equity association January 25. Other managers equally prominent decline absolutely, however, to be drawn into the fight against radio, declaring that such organization "tittles the air."

In the meantime radio stations and phonograph companies against whom the move is mainly directed, are thoroughly unanimous. The results of the broadcasting of programs by artists under contract to the Brunswick and Victor companies have been no extraordinary that there is no likelihood that these programs will be abandoned. Each company will broadcast an all-star program this week. There has been such a demand for records of the songs broadcast by the Brunswick and Victor artists in the Brunswick hour and the Victor New Year's night programs that the factories have been unable to catch up with them.

It is unlikely that having given the plan a trial, the phonograph companies will ever be caught with short supply again. They undoubtedly will gauge output of records with reference to their radio programs to some extent from now on. The radio programs have also been combined radio and phonograph cabinets. Officials of the phonograph companies say that far from checking the sale of records, there seems to be a remarkable sales impulse derived from a desire to hear again whenever they wish the songs or selections they have listened to over the radio.

Actor Radio Side Of The Controversy Points To The Concert In New York As A Reiteration Of The Claim That The Radio Injures Theatre, Concert Or Opera Attendance. Although Hundreds Of Thousands In This Section Heard McCormack Sing From WEAF Station New Year's Night, The Audience Which Attempted To Hear Him Three Days Later Would Have Been Capacity Three Times Over. This Fact Has Not Been Lost On Other Artists Of Theatrical And Operatic Stages. The Radio Adherents Add That 60,000 People A Day Still Continue To Attend New York Theatres And That This Indicates No Injury From Radio.

Mr. Harris, has suggested that the managers insist on a clause in contracts with stage stars prohibiting the latter from appearing for the radio without the consent of the manager. He declared the public would not patronize plays when they could hear them for free on the air. On the other hand, Daniel Frohman, a manager of years of experience, said: "The popularity of the radio will never hurt a good play. The human appeal of the actors and actresses who have been visualized and whose personalities, temperaments and artistic resources are felt, can never be effaced under any conditions."

It is asserted in support of the managers' stand that some artists cannot show to advantage over the radio and instances are cited where theatre tickets have been cancelled after a radio performance. The radio men say, however, that if an artist cannot show to advantage over the radio the radio stations will not want his services and that the cancellation of tickets is far less harmful to the theatre than to have a patron attend a performance and show his displeasure to scores of acquaintances.

 Favor Festival Day
 Following the announcement yesterday that Glendale will proceed with plans for an annual festival day in this city, semi-official indications have been given by some communities, including Burbank, Montrose, La Crescenta, Tujunga, Verdugo City and others anxious to join this city in a celebration to be held here each year. It is very probable, according to Secretary Howard I. Wood, of the Chamber of Commerce, who advocates the festival idea, that a celebration in which all communities of the valley can participate, will be arranged.

TWO TENT SHOWS DENIED PERMITS
 City Council With But One Dissenting Voice, Refuses To Grant License

The City Council this morning denied applications of two theatrical organizations to conduct tent shows in this city. In each instance Councilman S. A. Davis voted in favor of granting permits to the applicants, but the other four councilmen voted no. C. C. Pitts, the first applicant, sought to conduct a tent show at the southeast corner of Broadway and Everett street. J. B. Brown & Co., the second applicant, stipulated the northwest corner of Broadway and Sycamore Canyon road.

"I am voting yes on this tent show proposition because you are too fast and are not giving proper consideration to the matter," said Councilman Davis to his fellow councilmen in explanation of his vote. Protestants against the change of Matilla road to Bonnie Brae drive were advised by the council and councilors to submit a petition to restore the original name to this street.

Fence Bids Offered
 Bids were offered and read for fence and pipe, and were referred to the city engineer for checking and report. Hearings on establishment of commercial districts at Elk avenue and Adams street, and at California avenue and Sycamore Canyon road, were continued one week.

All protests were denied at the hearing on assessment for the improvement of Ard Eevin avenue, and the assessment roll was confirmed. All protests were denied at the hearing on issuance of bonds for the installation of street lights on Broadway, and a resolution was adopted authorizing issuance of the bonds.

Commercial District
 Hearings on petition for establishment of commercial district at Park avenue and San Fernando road were set before the City Planning commission for January 26 and before the City Council for January 29. A petition to vacate a portion of Barbara drive was referred to the city engineer for report and recommendation.

Permit to conduct a public dance at the Odd Fellows' hall on Wednesday and Saturday nights was granted.

An ordinance for the widening of San Fernando road was offered. An ordinance was passed granting a twenty-five year franchise to the Glendale-Montrose Railway Co. for the construction of a spur track leading into the new Union Pacific depot. A resolution was adopted awarding contract for installation of street lights on Harvey drive to the Occorn Electric Co. A resolution was adopted instructing the city engineer to prepare a diagram for opening and widening Doran street.

Letter of Thanks
 A letter of thanks from G. B. Mapes of the Glendale Bugle and Drum corps, for assistance rendered, was ordered filed. A letter from the Glendale den of women endorsing the Burbank site for the University of California, southern branch, was ordered filed.

It was decided at the meeting held today noon at the Harriett Mae Tea room.

GIVE TALKS ON TRADE AT HOME
 Local Business Men Tell How to Keep Glendale Money in City

"Keeping Glendale Dollars in Glendale" formed the theme for today's meeting of the Greater Glendale Luncheon club at the Masonic temple at noon.

J. M. Robinson of Robinson's Men's Shop, told the Chamber of Commerce members that it was more important to make the merchants realize they must compete in every way with Los Angeles merchants than it is to educate the people to buy here. Once competition is fully met, business will come, he said. He pointed to the growth and progress made in Glendale stores in the past five years.

William Hunter of the Glendale Wallpaper & Paint Co., said in his address that, right price, variety and quality coupled with service which Los Angeles stores cannot render will win for the local merchant.

B. P. Fisher of Coker & Taylor urged that the Chamber of Commerce back better transportation facilities so that residents in communities north of Glendale will be more inclined to trade here.

Ray Bentley of Bentley Lumber Co., George F. Orgibet of Orgibet Printery, Frank L. Fox of Fox-Woodsum Lumber Co., Hellman of May & Hellman, and J. A. McLean of McLean Variety store, also spoke on trading at home.

 Rev. Fox Tells Members Too Many Boys, Girls Ride To School In Autos

Too many high school boys and girls are riding to school in automobiles, these days, charged Rev. Daniel Fox of Pasadena, in an address this noon before the Glendale Rotary club, on "The Seven Pillars in the Temple of Wisdom." The meeting was held at the Tuesday Afternoon club, President J. Herbert Smith, presiding. The seven pillars he gave as: Industry, honesty, sobriety, love, reverence, courage and vigilance, he said:

"If you want character or career, you have to hew them out of the sweat of your brow," declared Rev. Fox. "The fundamental joy in life is having a hand in, not a hand out. That is industry, the first pillar in the temple of wisdom."

He then developed his idea of each pillar of the temple in similar fashion.

Mayor J. C. Crawford of Burbank was among the visiting Rotarians present.

MARKET SUMMARY
 LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—The situation facing business at the start of the first full week of the new year is one which requires cautious and self-restraining management, and in the main that is the temper of the business community, according to a statement over the wires of E. P. Hutton & Co. today.

Cheap money has returned, stock speculation continues at a high level, the commodity price average is at the highest since June, 1923 and the increase in steel orders suggests a boom purchasing power.

Such a development on the present basis of impaired purchasing power, it is held, would be dangerous and might be speedily disastrous. The general disposition seems to be opposed to it.

For a time it seemed that oil stocks were as much in favor as were the radio stocks only a short while ago. The advance in prices was accompanied by all sorts of rumors. These reports included advice to the effect that all production was declining in the new Wortham field in Texas; that stocks of crude oil were being drawn upon heavily by refiners who were preparing for expected record gasoline consumption next summer; early advance in crude oil prices and reports that J. P. Morgan and company would soon take up the option they hold on a large block of Marland stock.

The Union of South Africa has decided to resume gold payments, while the Mexican federal government has ended the subsidies to individual states, according to dispatches over broker wires in Los Angeles today.

Business of Los Angeles stock exchange during the past ten years has increased 2168 per cent, according to a report made yesterday to the board of governors at a reorganization meeting, following election by the stockholders. Frank Hervey Pettigell began his eleventh term as president of the institution.

Word has been received here that encouraging progress is being made in the development of extensive holdings at Randsburg by the Randsburg Associated Mines, Inc., adjoining some of the holdings of the California Rand Silver. In the forty-foot cross-cut from the 540-foot level of No. 1 shaft the rock is heavily mineralized.

With the exception of yellow corn, both grades of which advanced 2-1/2 cents, paying prices by Los Angeles millers, as reported yesterday afternoon, were unchanged, as follows: Hard winter wheat, $3.45; yellow corn No. 2, $2.70; No. 3 eastern barley, 2.50; No. 4 eastern barley, $2.45.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Jan. 15.—New water pipe is being installed on Magnolia avenue, to supplant the "booster" pipe now functioning there. This announcement is made by W. E. French, manager of the public utilities department. As this street is to be paved in the near future, he states, it was deemed advisable to put in permanent pipe.

The Burbank Realty board will meet Monday night, January 19, at the Women's clubhouse. This is a postponed meeting. Matters of importance will be taken up. The Burbank site for the proposed University of California Southern Branch will come in for discussion, according to L. H. Wood, president.

The big pepper trees in front of the new C. B. Kahl building on Olive avenue, just behind the Hall, are being uprooted and will be cut into kindling wood. Miss Gladys Andrews of Redlands, formerly a well-known teacher in the Burbank schools, was a recent visitor with her sister, Miss Eleanor Andrews, of the Thomas Edison school, at the home of Mrs. B. Y. Diss, 427 Orange Grove avenue.

C. H. Wood reports the sale of a house and lot in the Dorris court, to J. McGraw, of Willows. The purchaser is a brother of George McGraw, well known Burbank citizen, and expects to move his family from Willows to Burbank and take possession of the new home.

Robert White of East Liverpool, Ohio, is visiting this week at the home of his uncle, and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. Price, of 459 Orange Grove avenue, and may make his home in Burbank.

Here's Something For C. Of C. To Take Up

Glendale is an unknown quantity to some railroad officials, according to Mr. Dawson, aged 81 who left his home in Idaho last week bound for Southern California to visit his daughter, Mrs. James Newton, of 224 1/2 South Jackson street. Mr. Dawson, who is a G. A. R. veteran, telegraphed to his daughter that he would arrive in Glendale Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Newton met the train on which her father would arrive but the father did not put in his appearance. Mrs. Newton was very much worried over the situation and could not understand what had happened to her father. Finally matters were straightened out Tuesday morning when Mr. Dawson arrived. It seems that Mr. Dawson had asked the trainmen to put him off the train at Glendale and as the story goes they did not know where Glendale was and took him on in to Los Angeles.
